7-Man Jury Rejects Libel Suit Brought By Labor Speaker

LONDON (CP)—A high court jury today rejected the libel suit brought by Prof. Harold Laski, professor of political science in the University of London and last year's chairman of the Labor Party, against the Newark (Nottinghamshire) Advertising Company and the editor of the weekly Newark Advertiser.

Prof. Laski complained he had been wrongly reported in a speech he made in Newark before the British general election of June, 1945.

He said the Newark Advertiser had reported he had advocated revolution, with violence. He denied he had made any such statement.

The court awarded costs of the action to the Newark Advertising Company and Cyril Parby, editor of the Advertiser.

Chief Justice Lord Goddard had charged the seven-man jury to decide whether the Advertiser was fair and accurate in quoting Prof. Laski as advocating violent revolution.

Lord Goddard also left it for the jury to decide whether it was a matter of public concern that he was at a political meeting should be reported.

Personally, he said, he thought it should, explaining: "It is what people go to hear. It is part of the fun."

Several witnesses had testified to a lively exchange between Prof. Laski and a Conservative Party publicist whose published account of the exchange contained the statement on which the lawsuit was based.

"The occasion of the speech was election time, when speeches were not always calm and temperate," Lord Goddard said. "Temper ran high. Questions were asked which speakers resented, and no one ought to be too thin-skinned."

"But because a man ought not to be too thin-skinned, he must not have things fastened on him that he did not say."

Earlier, Prof. Laski's lawyer, G. O. Slade, had said the fact Prof. Laski often had written of a possible revolution was no reason to say he favored revolution.

Predicts Heaviest Air Traffic In History Of Victoria Airport

In view of the steady increase in the number of private planes coming to the Victoria airport at Patricia Bay, George Yardley, Collector of Customs here, said today he expects to see more planes come into the airport next year than any previous time in its history.

To deal with this heavy air tourist travel into here, the Canadian customs will have permanent officials stationed at Patricia Bay.

Favorable reactions on the part of private pilots who have landed here and the expectations of airport personnel bear out Mr. Yardley's predictions.

"There is no reason why as many private aircraft as visit Vancouver should not visit Victoria," said James McDonald, station manager of T.C.A. at the airport.

Air traveling tourists point to landing fees and hangar facilities elsewhere and remark on the excellence of facilities here and on the low landing fees.

It is almost impossible to care for or provide hangar space for private planes seeking such accommodation at major airports such as those at New York and Chicago, and a landing fee of $1 and nominal hangar fee of $1.75 a day at the Patricia Bay airport seems low to fliers who travel the airways of the United States.

Pointing to an airmap of the overwater flight from the mainland, Mr. McDonald said "The water shouldn't scare anybody away. It is almost an all-over-land route."

Leaving Patricia Bay and headed out, over the San Juan Islands, the route on the map shows very little open water. The establishment of the emergency landing field at Whidby Island, half-way between Victoria and the mainland assures even the most timid a place to land.

From San Juan Islands, a direct course leads to the Burlington Intersection, between the east leg of the Patricia Bay range and the south leg of the Bellingham range. For radio-equipped planes, this airway provides a direct and definite check on position. From there on, the airways of the mainland guide the flier.

to the premises other than a broken pane of glass, through which entrance was gained.

Limit Retroactive Salary Increases Under New Order

In connection with the cancellation of the wartime salaries order, effective at midnight Saturday, telegraphic advice has been received from the Deputy Minister of Taxation at the Victoria office of the inspector of income tax dealing with the new regulations which govern salary increases.

The deputy minister states: "Now that the wartime salaries order is canceled, employers should note that the period covered by the order is a period in respect of which it is not now open to employers to grant salary increases with retroactive effect because of the cancellation of the wartime salaries order. All such retroactive salary increases will be disallowed for income tax purposes as the salaries order provides that unless the retroactive increase has been applied for during the currency of the salaries order and has been or will be approved because it was before the department during the time the order was in effect."

"In the absence of the salary order, however, a bonus as distinct from a salary increase would not offend any existing order or law except the general control which always has been present in the income tax law that bonuses must be reasonable having regard to the business and purposes of the taxpayer, and not in excess of what is normally required to be laid out in the earning of the income of the employer."

"This means that there is a distinction between retroactive salaries and current bonuses. The former are not allowed as an expense if they impinge upon the period covered by the salaries order; the latter is subject only to the continuing provisions of the income tax law."

City Land Sales Treble 1945 Figure

Phenomenal sales of city-owned lands continued with the total sales for the first 11 months of 1946 almost treble the sales for the same period in 1945. Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, chairman of the lands, zoning and housing committee, announced today.

Sales for the 11-month period were 728 parcels of land for $293,930, compared with 379 parcels of land for $104,571 in 1945. Cash receipts for this year to date were $338,204, compared with $162,191 last year.

Sales during November slipped below the 1945 total for the first time this year. There were 19 parcels of property sold for $5,317, while in November, 1945, there were 27 parcels of land sold for $13,630. Cash receipts for November were $18,824 compared with $17,209 last November.

Lake Cowichan Buys Waterworks Systems

A provincial government order-in-council has approved the sale of two small waterworks systems to Lake Cowichan village municipality. The systems were previously operated by Peter Olson and Elizabeth Gordon, executrix of the estate of Stanley Gordon.

A certificate of public convenience and necessity also has been approved for sale of water in areas outside the village boundaries, limited to 10,000 gallons daily and to an area within two miles of the boundary.

Youth Hurlled Through Truck Door Killed

It was through the right-hand door of this old truck that Rinaldo Bombardier, 21 years, 1726 Stanley Avenue, was thrown and killed in a traffic accident on Esquimalt Road near Macaulay Road late Saturday night. Damage to the truck was comparatively slight. Police said the truck was driven by John P. Southwell, 1215 Chapman Street. Bombardier, the driver and a girl passenger were thrown out when the truck hit a guard rail and telephone pole on a curve in the road. Southwell and the girl, Miss Connie Herbert, 1009 Burdett Avenue, escaped serious injuries.

Weary Of Industrial Strife Americans Want Year's Truce

By American Institute of Public Opinion
PRINCETON, N.J.—A good many Americans are weary of industrial strife which has retarded production since the war's end.

As the country appears to be moving toward another series of crippling strikes, with John L. Lewis and the soft coal miners leading off, the public would like to see the whole show called off.

Voters would like to see a truce between labor and management for a year. In fact, half of all voters in a recent survey favor the idea of passing a law to forbid all strikes and lockouts for a year.

In testing sentiment on the issue among a representative sample of the U.S. voting public, the institute had field reporters ask:

"Do you think a law should be passed forbidding all strikes and lockouts for a year?" Yes, 50 per cent; no, 41 per cent; undecided, 9 per cent.

While passage of such a law is not necessarily the only means of bringing about a period of labor-industry peace, replies to the question are indicative of the extent to which a strike-weary public is willing to go to usher in a period of uninterrupted production.

UNIONISM PRINCIPLE FAVORED

The public, it should be noted, is not basically anti-union. Surveys have shown a majority of the U.S. public favoring the principle of unionism. The public has approved the right of a man to join a union if he so chooses.

The public has also been found on labor's side, at least in the matter of wage adjustments, in some of the strikes last winter.

But, as of today, there can be little doubt that the great majority of the people would like to see an end of labor-industry conflicts in the interests of a prosperous, producing economy.

A poll of the nation just before the elections indicated a clear mandate for the new Congress to pass new laws to control labor unions.

The institute asked: "Should the Congress elected in November pass new laws to control labor unions?" Yes, 66 per cent; no, 22 per cent; undecided, 12 per cent.

OTHER SURVEYS

Other surveys in U.S. from time to time on various aspects of the labor-industry picture have brought out that the public favors:

1. Prohibiting strikes in public utilities such as gas, electric, telephone and local public transportation companies.

2. A 30-day cooling off period before any strike can be called, with investigation of the issues during the waiting period. This was proposed by President Truman.

3. Compulsory arbitration of labor disputes if labor and management cannot come to agreement by themselves.

4. Eliminating "feather-bedding" practices in labor unions.

5. Having labor unions make financial accounting periodically on income and expenditures.

6. Having a citizens community arbitration board (labor, management, public members) to settle local labor disputes along the lines of the Toledo Plan.

Tax Collections Up

Tax collections for the first 11 months of 1946 are up to $1,591,110 on a total levy of 1,693,857. A. V. Danby, city assessor-collector, announced today.

This is up considerably over the total for 1945, which set a record for tax collections in the city. Collections for the 11-month period last year were $1,354,290.

Payment of taxes has slowed down considerably now, and the final 3 per cent penalty is being imposed Tuesday, to bring the total penalty for tax delinquents up to 6 per cent.

Arrears in taxes collected to date this year are $79,758, and in addition $9,571 has been paid in as taxes on property sold by the city lands department this year.

Nurses Fly North

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three Vancouver nurses, answering a call for aid, today are flying to Prince George, B.C., where medical health officers are reported fighting a diphtheria epidemic.

Plane Breaks Prop In Shelbourne Street Landing

Bud Bjornsfeldt, Vancouver pilot, and a passenger escaped injury Saturday afternoon when this Fleet Canuck aircraft hit a soft spot while landing in a field near Howroyd's bulb farm on Shelbourne Street about one-quarter mile south of Ruby Road and broke the tip off the propeller. Reports that the pilot had been given permission by the Department of Transport to land in the field so that he and his passenger could visit a farmer in the district were not confirmed. R.C.A.F. flying control officials at Patricia Bay said the plane had been given clearance to land there. The damaged prop was replaced Sunday and the plane took off this morning for the mainland.

Call In Experts To Establish City Hall Price

Independent evaluators will be called in by the City Council to set what would be a fair price on the City Hall and the site, Mayor Percy George said today.

The evaluators will be asked to submit their report to the Council prior to Jan. 17 when the bids for the hall and site are to be in.

Mayor George said today that no price had been mentioned in the inquiries made of him Saturday which prompted the City Council to call for the bids, but that the interested parties gave definite assurance that they would put in an offer and would be interested in purchase if the price set was not on an inflated valuation.

There is considerable speculation as to who the prospective purchaser may be, with three department stores mentioned as the most likely, including Woodward's, T. Eaton Co. and Simpson's, all three of which are reported, from time to time to have made inquiries about purchase of property in Victoria.

The City Hall was started in 1878, and 12 years later a large addition was made to the northeast portion. The clock in the tower has been running for 54 years.

New Order Requires Taxis To Carry Liability Insurance

The B.C. government, by order-in-council, has approved regulations of the Public Utilities Commission which requires, in effect, that all companies operating taxi cabs must carry insurance against claims for damages for bodily injury or death or property loss.

Previously only vehicles carrying seven passengers or more were required to carry insurance or produce proof of financial responsibility. The new order of the motor carriers' branch of the commission extends the requirement to all vehicles carrying passengers for compensation.

Companies are allowed until March 1 next to secure the insurance as the order will not become effective until that date.

At the same time the commission has increased by about 50 per cent the amount of coverage required of all public passenger carrying vehicles.

Proof of financial responsibility is to be not less than $1,000 against damage to property resulting from any one accident and $5,000 against loss or damage resulting from bodily injury or death in respect to one person.

Coverage against injury or death of two or more persons in any one accident is applied on a sliding scale as follows: Vehicles authorized to carry seven passengers or less, $10,000; eight to 12 passengers, including standing passengers, $15,000; 13 to 21 passengers, $20,000; 22 to 30, $30,000; 31 to 40, $40,000; 41 to 50, $50,000; 51 to 75, $75,000, more than 75, $100,000.

City Assessment Up $2,000,000 On 1947 Tax Rolls

The city of Victoria's 1947 assessment roll is up more than $2,000,000 over the 1946 figure, A. V. Danby, assessor-collector, announced today as the rolls were completed in readiness to start the new year.

This brings the valuation of city property up to the highest in the city's history, Mr. Danby said.

Gross valuation of the property in the city is $71,525,536, compared with $69,640,110 on this year's roll. This is made up of $25,422,596 for land and $46,102,940 for improvements.

However, exemptions on Dominion, provincial and city owned property, which also includes churches, schools, hospitals, parks and cemeteries, is $19,596,621, made up of $5,380,071 on land and $14,216,550 on improvements.

This is slightly lower than the exemption on the 1946 roll which totaled $20,145,811. The explanation for this Mr. Danby said is the phenomenal sales of city-owned property during the past year, which has reduced the city-owned property exempt from taxation.

This leaves taxable $51,528,915 on the lists in the assessor's office, made up of $20,042,525 on land and $31,486,390 in improvements, as compared with a total taxable on the 1946 lists of $49,494,599.

Senator McGeer Has Appendix Out

VANCOUVER (CP)—Senator G. G. McGeer was operated on for appendicitis in a hospital here early today. His condition was reported as "good."

Senator McGeer, 58 years old, was taken to the hospital during the night, following an active week-end in his civic election campaign in which he seeks return to the chief magistrate's chair here. He was mayor of Vancouver in 1935 and 1936.

GRADUAL AND ORDERLY

OFFICIALS OF THE WARTIME PRICES and Trade Board are reported as saying that the removal of wage and salary controls, as announced by Mr. Mackenzie King last Friday, is not expected to have any immediate or serious impact on prices. Not until the end of next year is the government likely to abolish the wide range of restrictions affecting food, clothing, textiles, wood and petroleum products and other basic household commodities. The same remarks apply to various types of machinery, construction products, coal, wood, certain services, such as transportation, and so on.

One or two Conservative newspapers have joined the cry of the principal opposition and the Social Credit members of the House of Commons for the abolition of all wartime controls on the ground that such a course at this stage would stimulate production. The Prime Minister was careful to qualify his statement with respect to wages and salaries by a reminder to the public that "the removal of controls shall take place in a gradual and orderly manner so as to protect the standards of living and the value of the war savings of the people."

Political objection to even such common-sense procedure, of course, is based largely on a desire to criticize the government for maintaining what is loosely termed bureaucratic practices after the state of war emergency has passed. This is an easy way to berate the W.P.T.B.—the agency which has prevented in this country a condition that is worrying many people in the United States. Canada's anti-inflation war, in other words, has succeeded so well that the opponents of the administration are finding it difficult to interest the general public in their varied and captious criticisms.

As the Dominion begins to take its economy off its leading strings, therefore, the question still persists, in the words of W.P.T.B. chairman Donald Gordon, as to the best time to remove controls, because: "One of the big difficulties is that a great many people want to get rid of the particular control which restricts their freedom to raise prices, or to do what they want to do with the goods and services which they provide, but at the same time keep on those controls which protect their supplies and their costs." It all depends on whose ox is gored.

Regardless of the Prime Minister's announcement, then, the abolitionists must accept the fact that labor wants more money for less hours; the farmer objects to paying more for his supplies but demands higher prices for his products; the industrialist is equally emphatic in his antipathy to rising costs of labor and material but is ready to vote both hands for freeing his product from all restrictions. Mr. King's warning against any action that might reduce the value of the war savings of the people should be carefully heeded. At the forthcoming session of Parliament, however, much pressure will be exerted by special pleaders and their political lieutenants.

GRIM INCREASE

TRAGIC ACCIDENTS IN THE LAST few days have brought home to Victorians the mounting dangers of the highway. They scarcely need to read the report of the motor record office, which states that car crashes are claiming an average of one life every three days in this province. There are two courses they can pursue with respect to this grim rise in the number of mishaps. They can remain apathetic, which leaves correction of the condition to others—and thereby watch the toll climb steadily higher. Or they can see to it that nothing in their power is left undone to correct a situation which is steadily deteriorating.

The obligation rests chiefly with motorists. Unless they know that their vehicles are in first class operating condition, they show a negligence that is little, if anything, short of criminal. And unless they know, too, that they are thoroughly competent to handle their cars, they have no right to drive them. An automobile is not a machine with which to take chances. If roads are slippery, if visibility is poor, or if the person behind the wheel has not complete control of his faculties and his car, his vehicle, as judges have frequently noted, may be a lethal weapon.

It is up to drivers to see that no avoidable risk is taken. The harvest of death on British Columbia highways is not to be accepted as inevitable.

CLOSED SHOP—CLOSED HOSPITAL

ONE OF THE CRIPPLING DISABILITIES inherent in Britain's current "closed shop" disputes becomes apparent in an incident reported from London on Saturday. Fifty-two non-union nurses and other members of the Willesden Municipal Hospital have been given their notice to quit. They had declined, we are told, to join a union on the grounds that they had their own organization—the Royal College of Nursing. Amendment of the order, or its total withdrawal, may shortly relieve the situation. If it remains in force, however, the hospital will have to close.

Such an eventuality would pose vital problems not only for the municipal authorities, but for labor as well. Illness and injury are no respecters of union issues. When they strike they must be met by those weapons of defence which a hospital provides, not a theoretical treatise on the merits of jurisdictional affairs. When the hospital is closed the lives of the public are jeopardized to an unnecessary extent. And the man with a broken leg or a critical ailment is less likely to be interested in the particular labor affiliations of those who minister to him than their competency to perform the services required.

AS YOUTH SEES IT

SEVERAL OF THE ISSUES DISCUSSED by the Canadian Youth Commission during its two-day session in Ottawa have attracted the attention of thoughtful citizens of this Dominion. The interest and anxiety of young people in their employment opportunities are not matters to be dismissed lightly. Nor is their plea for more adequate preparation for family life to be ignored. But questions will be provoked by youth opinion on two subjects. On one, the complaint was lodged that school training is unsatisfactory—that high school courses are geared to too great an extent to suit those planning to continue their studies at university. On another, delegates were critical of community programs, stating that "adults had the say in various community activities."

On the educational issue, the opinion of those in high school category, or recently graduated from that class, should focus attention on the purpose of schooling in Canada. It would be unfair, of course, to suggest provision should not be made for those who have no wish to proceed to college or, for various reasons, cannot go on to the institutions of higher learning. But what, after all, is the purpose of education? If it trains the brain, sharpening the mental tools for tasks to come, is it not achieving its main objective? And if it provides the broad basis of a liberal education on which higher academic study must depend, is it to be considered useless by those who wish vocational training? It is interesting to note, however, that criticism in British Columbia is often voiced that high schools do not concentrate sufficiently on preparing students for university work and that professors are frequently obliged to spend too much time establishing the groundwork which should have been laid in lower grades.

On the point of community programs, the young people have asked for the right to run their own shows. Many will see the justice in such a request. But why does not youth carry through this proposal? If adult counsel is sought, it should be given. But hundreds of citizens of mature age in this Dominion would be only too pleased to leave the matter to youth—if youth would climb into the driver's seat, draft its own schedule of activities, and do its own financing. The remedy for that problem lies in young hands.

QUESTION OF COST

SAN FRANCISCO IS OFFERING AN area up to 10 square miles to the United Nations for its permanent home, since the present site on the borders of New York and Connecticut is regarded not only as too expensive by the majority of the members, but as entirely unsuitable by the present residents who consider the addition of several thousand "foreigners" of the permanent staff undesirable.

The first meeting of the United Nations Assembly took place in London when the general organization was planned and the secretariat established. The present meeting at Lake Success in New York has been devoted principally to receiving and discussing the reports of the various committees established in London and dealing with the difficulties bound to occur in avoiding the pitfalls experienced by the League of Nations—exploring the new terrain to be cultivated by the United Nations. By the end of the year the costs of organization, including the permanent staff, will have been nearly $20,000,000, of which approximately half has been caused by the lack of permanent quarters.

It is admitted, however, that without the agreements reached with the United States government and the administration of New York City the United Nations would have had to pay many millions more to hold the General Assembly and Council meetings. Senator Vandenberg has pointed out that the question of cost should be one of the primary considerations in making a selection of the United Nations' permanent headquarters. So that if San Francisco can bait its trap with lowered capital costs and greater conveniences for the permanent staff, the organization may yet find its home built on the foundations of its Charter.

NO FAULTY CARS WANTED

IT IS THE DUTY OF THE CITY'S finance committee chairman to keep a weather eye on the public purse and to see, specifically, that non-budgeted drains do not siphon off all surplus revenue. It was natural, therefore, that the council should have had its attention drawn to this point during last week when $1,000 was sought for a new police car.

On the other hand, it will be realized that police cars, necessarily subjected to hard running, do wear out more quickly than those of other departments. The mayor and aldermen, moreover, no less than the citizens at large, do not wish to see the police hampered by faulty equipment. Consequently the request of the police commission for the new automobile should be given careful consideration.

BARGAINING POWER IN GERMANY

AS WE APPROACH Germany it is most important to realize that while we need M. Molotov's consent to complete a European settlement, we do not need his consent to make great progress toward a settlement. In the satellite treaties, excepting the Italian, nothing could be done unless he agreed to it first. The countries were exclusively under Soviet occupation.

But in Germany the position is wholly different; the most important things can be done without obtaining his consent. The three western zones contain about 46,000,000 Germans as against some 18,000,000 in the Soviet zone. In fact the disparity in manpower is greater. About two-thirds of the German population in the Soviet zone are women. And of Germany's prewar heavy industry at least three-quarters is in the western zones.

THIS IS ENOUGH to determine the shape of the German settlement, that is to say, the constitutional structure of the new Germany, and the character of the German economy. In agreement with Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, and Denmark, the United States can reorganize enough of Germany, and therefore of Europe, so that in negotiations with M. Molotov he can be offered a choice. He can come in and participate in making the settlement general for all of Europe, or he can stay out, and devote himself to preventing the Poles, the Czechs, the Austrians, the Hungarians, and the Yugoslavs from sharing in the reconstruction of Europe.

In dealing with Germany, M. Molotov has no effective veto over what the western powers can do with the best part of Germany. He can only veto his own participation in the benefits of a German and a European reconstruction.

THE EXPLORATORY conversations which General Clay has had with the Russians in Berlin show that they need the products of western zones more than the western zones need the products of theirs. To be sure, we have done most of the talking about the unification of Germany, it is the Russians who have the most to lose by isolating themselves in their zone. They have tried first to mine their zone by removing industrial machinery. That did not help them. Then they tried reviving production in their zone. The results have been quite insufficient. If the Russians are to get the substantial reparations which they need so badly and to which they are unquestionably entitled, they must get them by agreement with the western Allies out of increased production in the western zones.

Therefore, in the bargaining out of which a German settlement can be developed, they will have to buy their participation if we have the foresight to see to it that we have something substantial to sell, and know clearly what price we can and should exact.

THE ECONOMIC unification of Germany, a central German government, a demilitarization treaty, are not things to be bought eagerly from M. Molotov. They are things to be sold to him reluctantly on carefully considered terms.

For if the terms are not such as to make secure the long-range vital interests of the western powers, the unification of Germany under a central government will be a monumental blunder. We shall have unified Germany for the Pan-Germans, who will inevitably make a deal with Moscow at the expense of Poland and against the West.

The right course is open to us, however, if only Mr. Byrnes and the Department of State will build their German policy upon the foundations which have been laid, with brilliant foresight, in the American zone. The disheartening thing about Mr. Byrnes' Stuttgart speech was that it showed so little appreciation of the significance of the American achievement in giving the Germans a vested interest to keep Germany decentralized and federal. That, and not propaganda about democracy, is the real beginning of a change in the political habits of Germany.

THE EXAMPLE and the pressure of the three German states in the American zone have begun to spread into the British zone. When the British zone has been reorganized into autonomous states, then—and then only—will it be safe or wise to establish a provisional central government. For then the vested interests, which soon develop in the separate states, will be a guarantee that Berlin will not become again the capital of a centralized bureaucratic Reich—a Reich so unified that it can be captured and regimented by a Communist party or a Nazi party.

M. Molotov has said that he does not want a federal Germany. Naturally. But he cannot prevent the western powers from reorganizing three-quarters of Germany for federalism. When they have done that, there can be a central government which we can trust, not one which M. Molotov can use. Then it will be up to M. Molotov to find how long he can keep his Germans from obtaining the same rights as all the other Germans.

THOUGH WE HAVE lost precious time and have allowed European relations to deteriorate while we haggled in vain over Eastern Europe, we still have the opportunity and the means to retrieve the situation. But to do that we must have the vision of what Germany can be in Europe as a whole, and we must act with decision, having calculated correctly the real balance of forces.

'No, No, John! Not That!'

U.S. Outlook For Spring Finery

By PETER EDSON From Washington

BEST GUESSES in Washington are that if all remaining government controls on wearing apparel were removed, prices would go up another 15 to 20 per cent above the pre-war levels in the United States. They would level off at these new highs until after the Easter trade is taken care of, then go down to seek more proper levels.

Clothing makes up about 11 per cent of Bureau of Labor Statistics index of consumer prices, commonly referred to as the cost of living. Clothing is now 60 per cent higher in price than it was in 1939. Another 15 per cent increase on top of that would mean that it would cost you $175 to get the equivalent of every $100 worth of clothing you bought in 1939.

Today wool clothing is 50 per cent higher, cotton clothing 92 per cent higher, natural and synthetic silks 45 per cent higher, and footwear 42 per cent above 1939 averages. The percentages will be above these figures when October prices are reported by B.L.S.

WOOL is probably in better supply than any other material. Normally, by this time of year all wool clothing for the remaining fall and winter trade is manufactured, and apparel makers are busy on spring and summer models. This year this shift in production is generally true as far as men's overcoats and most women's wear is concerned. But because of the unprecedented demand for men's suits, production is still going on and will probably continue to some extent through the winter. An average year's production used to be 20 million men's suits. This year

EFFICIENCY AND THE ORIENT

(London Free Press)

Efficiency is a fine thing, and we are all for it, but still can't help feeling a sort of glow when modern efficiency is shown up as not quite the last word.

Accordingly the news that in actual tests the ancient abacus of the Orient can compute faster than the most up-to-date calculating machine gives us a strange thrill.

We are accustomed to talk glibly of the backward and unchanging East. Can it be the Orientals have something we don't yet understand?

NOISE COMES HIGHER

(Edmonton Bulletin)

The Wurlitzer organization, which manufactures those abominations known as "juke boxes," has announced that it may shortly be necessary to place ten cents in the slot to make these devices play, instead of the traditional nickel.

Obviously the manufacturers do not expect this move to decrease their profits. Will people pay a dime to hear the desolate wails of whisky tenors and cocktail sopranos?

It rather seems that the projected change in price will constitute a test, not of juke box economics, but of public sanity.

28 million suits are being made and it's still not enough. The shortage is caused principally by a lack of labor in the men's clothing industry.

The supply of summer clothing now being made won't be normal. That is, you still won't be able to go into the stores and buy what you want when you want it, for prices are willing to pay. Production is way up, but it may not meet the demand unless buying habits of consumers change.

WHILE THE AVERAGE male shopper used to be content with a few white shirts, now he wants a dozen more. And the average woman who used to be satisfied with one topcoat now has to have three or more—a jacket, a light coat, a heavier coat and a fur coat.

High wages are said to be responsible for that. If there were an adequate supply of radios, automobiles and such consumers' "hard" goods, they might soak up some of this purchasing power and relieve the pressure on "soft" goods like clothing.

There is no evidence yet of a buyers' strike in protest against high prices, though consumers are reported seeking better quality. No longer do they just grab the first thing offered, at any price.

Actually, there are few effective controls left. Taking off the M.A.P. or Maximum Average Price order last June 30 tended to encourage production of better qualities, but at naturally higher prices. When Civilian Production Administration recently took off its style limitation order, this condition was accentuated even more.

O.P.A.'s LOW-COST clothing production program is still on, however, and O.P.A. is authorized to offer a five per cent incentive to encourage manufacture of lower-priced lines. Also, O.P.A.'s priorities control is still in effect, and all textiles under allocation must go into low-cost clothing. About half the clothing made comes under this low-cost line control. Basic shortage in the apparel industry is shortage of textiles. Removal of C.P.A.'s loom freeze order may help some.

Wool fabrics are in best supply, but the wool industry has not asked for decontrol. Rayon and hosiery industries have likewise not asked for decontrol, though both have considered. Cotton is completely unpredictable. On paper there is a shortage of raw cotton, a shortage of textiles for both apparel and domestic cottons like sheetings and towels. When the raw cotton market took its October nose dive, there was a possibility for lowered cotton goods prices. Today, nobody knows.

SHOES will apparently continue scarce for some time. But the low-cost shoe industry which normally makes three-fourths of America's footwear wants to keep its prewar market and may not try to cash in by raising prices for a temporary clean-up, taking advantage of the removal of ceilings on shoes, hides and leathers.

In hats, neckties, bathing suits and all such non-basic apparel lines the controls have all been let go.

Letters To The Editor

'FIDDLESTICKS'

Re editorial of Nov. 29, I am unacquainted with Fiddlesticks but assume from inference that he is "An average person with normal intelligence." He remarks that the "trouble with Social Crediters is that they are given to look on the uninitiated with a sense of pity if he or she does not grasp the financial wizardry, etc."

I would like to remark that an admittedly uninitiated person with or without normal intelligence is not qualified to offer any criticism on a subject with which he is uninitiated, especially in an editorial.

It is this fact—that "Freedom for the Press" which has made it difficult, almost impossible for Social Crediters to "initiate" the world and end this chaos which hard-headed businessmen ("Fiddlestick's" words) as well as men and women of every walk of life are thoroughly disgusted with.

M. F. LOUGHEED.

523 Harbinger Avenue.
Editors' Note: "Mr. Fiddlestick" cannot be held responsible for Mr. Lougheed's apparent lack of a sense of humor.

'FIDDLESTICKS'

While I have no particular brief for Social Credit, although it is probably nearer sanity than some other systems we hear about, May I suggest that their idea of "export and die" is not so much "fiddlesticks" as you appear to think.

At present we send out of the country millions of dollars worth of our finest raw materials, besides manufactured goods, at the expense of our own needs at home, and all for the sake of foreign dollars. Why not bring millions of the right kind of settlers over here, and use our resources right at the place where they come from? Then we would need no foreign dollars, but would find ourselves entirely self-supporting, besides lending a badly-needed hand to many unfortunates from other countries.

E. W. ABRAHAM.

"Tritea," 1125 Faithful St.
Editors' Note: The writer of the above, at least, saw the point in "Fiddlesticks."

We are discovering the right things in the wrong order, which is another way of saying that we are learning how to control nature before we have learned how to control ourselves.—Dr. Raymond B. Fosdick, president Rockefeller Foundation.

All sound advice about marriage boils down to this: Be as decent as you pretended to be before marriage.

New Approach To Education—Students Learn By Living With Leaders To Learn About Problems

Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education in British Columbia, held a conference in Victoria last week and in Vancouver this week to discuss effective training for citizenship. Representatives of all walks of life attended and advanced reasons for changes in the present system of education.

In all countries keen interest is being taken now in the curriculum the schools should draft in order to turn out the best citizens.

In the quiet town of Washington, nestled in the countryside of Connecticut nearly a dozen leaders of industrial, scientific and political life are trying to help 73 boys reach a new understanding of the complex social and technological problems of today. If they succeed they may bring about a new approach to education.

At Romford School, boys are being trained for life by living, studying, working and talking with men such as Edward R. Stettinius Jr., former U.S. Secretary of State; Dr. Quo Tai-Chi, Chinese member of the U.N. Security Council; industrialist Joseph W. Frazer, publisher William B. Ziff, physicist Dr. Karl Compton, Senator Elbert D. Thomas of Utah, and others.

These leaders come to the school for two-week periods during the year and live in intimate association with the boys.

The Romford plan was conceived by Ziff because he believes that the "present orthodox type of schooling, with its academic limitations, takes a boy at the most impressionable years of his life and largely ignores the conditions which that boy will have to face when he leaves school."

Informal session on world affairs is conducted by Publisher William Ziff, one of Romford School founders, in an open-air classroom with a rural Connecticut background that makes it look as comfortable as a lazy summer vacation bull-session. Surrounding Ziff here are (left to right) John MacDonald, Kent Rasche, William Wood (who fought on Okinawa with the Marines), Peter Morrell, Myron Snelder, and Roger Wolf. Danny, the dog, is the school's mascot.

SCIENTIFIC APPROACH

"We must teach these boys to think for themselves and to speak for themselves," Ziff says, "to depend less on memory tests and more on the capacity to understand and evaluate life."

"By meeting and mingling with important men from all fields of endeavor, boys will learn to address themselves to the problems of the times. They will acquire a balanced knowledge of all kinds of thinking—conservative, liberal and radical—and by synthesis go on to achieve a point of view entirely their own."

Frazer, who is chairman of the board of trustees of the school, believes that criticism of educational methods in general are justified because "schools allow their students to live so much in the past that they lose touch with the present; so much in theory that they lose sight of practice."

Romford, he says, is seeking a "working adjustment between the academic and the practical." The Romford plan doesn't break completely with academic tradition. Its graduates will get basic preparation for entrance into colleges and universities, but in a scientific world it is placing heavier emphasis on the scientific approach to all study including history, economics and sociology.

The founders believe that to turn a boy out as a citizen rather than simply an "educated" individual he must have some concept of the arts and of culture generally. But they feel that it is just as important for him to be able to "harangue a crowd or conduct himself well at a board meeting."

In addition to everything else, the boys will be taught to be socially at ease, to dance, to drive an automobile and to understand the mechanics of an airplane.

"Instead of detesting education, the boys will be geared to a world of tremendous adventure in business, laboratory and science so as to make learning interesting."

20 VETS AMONG STUDENTS

Its 73 students selected from slightly over 1,000 applications, range in age from 13 to 21, from boys just beginning their secondary education to combat veterans like William Wood who served 32 months in the Marine Corps at Okinawa and in China.

In the study of Headmaster Joseph J. Stetson, Romford School student John MacDonald of Hilton Village, Va., brings up a study problem while Stetson's Great Dane kibitzes. Headmaster holds open house every evening to help students with homework.

In all, 20 are veterans, one of them still awaiting discharge.

The boys come from 10 states and the District of Columbia in U.S., and from five foreign countries, one from as far away as Riga, Latvia. The school's faculty is just as cosmopolitan.

It is still too early to judge the final results of the Romford plan, but educators are watching the method closely. Dr. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, calls it "the greatest forward step in secondary education in 50 years."

Author Emeric Sala To Lecture Tonight

EMERIC SALA

A public lecture on "Postwar Alternatives" will be given at the Empress Hotel at 8 this evening by Emeric Sala, Hungarian-born Montreal business executive and author, whose most recent book is "This Earth One Country."

Mr. Sala has lived as a subject of eight crowned kings, and one year under a South American president since his birth 40 years ago.

At the age of 17, Mr. Sala already called himself a citizen of the world, a reformer, a humanitarian, an amateur philosopher, and wrote articles setting forth his ideas. He has traveled throughout Europe, the Near East, Africa, Mexico, Central and South America.

Elliott Denies He Accused Embassy

MOSCOW (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt said Sunday night he had not accused the United States embassy or embassy officials here of being implicated in the publication of an off-the-record discussion he had shortly after his arrival in Moscow last month.

"A correspondent who apparently sent out such a story is the very person who suggested to me that the embassy was involved," Mr. Roosevelt said. "I am calling him right now to tell him this. I am also informing the embassy here."

This referred to a United Press story published in the United States, in which Mr. Roosevelt was quoted as saying publication of his off-the-record remarks was a "put up job" by the U.S. embassy to bait him.

(The original story, published in the magazine Newsweek, quoted Mr. Roosevelt as criticizing U.S. foreign policy, and as saying U.S. had broken pledges made at Yalta, Potsdam and Tehran.)

Mr. Roosevelt left Moscow Sunday night for a trip in southern Russia expected to take about 10 days.

Y.W.C.A. Bazaar Realizes $550

A sum of $550 was realized at the Y.W.C.A. Christmas bazaar held Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Olga Jardine, president of the Y.W.C.A. board, introduced Miss Kathleen Agnew, who declared the affair open at 2, and from then on a steady stream of customers soon depleted the various stalls, gaily decorated in Christmas colors for the occasion.

Afternoon tea was served in the main dining-room, bright with silver bells and red and green Christmas streamers. Presiding at the tea tables were Dr. Jardine, Mrs. John Baxter, Mrs. H. R. Howard and Miss Shirley Mather.

Conveners of stalls were as follows: Handicrafts, Y-Ens, Miss Mary Cutt; home cooking, Chatelaine Club, Mrs. Alma Kean; toys, Omphalio, Miss Bernice Harvey; baby clothes, staff of Y.W.C.A., Miss Ruth Rasmussen; superfluities, over-seas wives, Mrs. A. Townsend; aprons, Philomel Choir, Mrs. Gladys Prior; handkerchiefs, ladies' committee, Mrs. L. Curtis; candy, Jill Tars, Mrs. S. Brecknell; tea arrangements, resident girls, Miss E. Irwin; decorations, Omphalio, Mrs. Ella Brett and Miss Charlotte Crawford.

Miss M. Wightman, general secretary at the Y.W.C.A., assisted Mrs. J. D. Hunter, general convenor of the bazaar, in receiving guests.

Makers of a new plastic shoe claim it is scuffless and will remain shiny after washing with soap and water.

Hard-To-Get Articles On Sale At Rotary Auction

Rotary Club's annual radio auction, inaugurated last year in aid of the Queen Alexandra Solarium and other rotary charities will be again featured this season with an energetic committee under the chairmanship of Capt. D. J. Proudfoot broadcasting the sale over CJVI Friday at 8.30 until Monday. Benefiting by the experience gained last year, when 1,500 calls were received during the three hour session, a battery of a dozen phones will be installed at CJVI and relays of bid-takers will man the instruments so that every bid received from the public will be recorded instantaneously.

In the selection of the items to be auctioned the committee has also benefited by the experience of last year. First on the list are items which are still in short supply, such as motorcars, washing machines, radios, etc. It was items of this description which brought forward by far the greatest number of bids. As in most instances these items are brand new and it was easy for the bidder to estimate the value offered merely by over the radio description by the auctioneer.

INCLUDING 1947 CAR

This year the list of these new, and extremely desirable items, is more extensive than ever before, such as, a brand new 1947 British Austin, 8 h.p., four-door sedan with five tires. For the person who also requires transportation, but at lower cost the club will auction a 1930 Model A Ford sedan. Other new items include a new General Electric refrigerator, General Electric washing machine, Gain-A-Day washer. Three new 1947 model K.M. 500 mantel radios; one General Electric K.M. 100 mantel radio; one 1947 Philco mantel radio; two 1947 Crossley mantel radios; three latest model electric twin waffle irons; inlaid walnut cedar chest, Walnut dinette set comprising, extension table, four chairs and buffet.

For those who have a home building project in hand there are such items as: a keg of nails, any size desired; three $20 scripts from the British American Paint Co. Ltd.; duroid roofing for a bungalow from the Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. Ltd., etc.

Of special interest to the musician will be the selling of a violin that is a gem of the violin makers art. It was made and donated by Justin Gilbert, a Rotarian of many years and a violin maker of international repute. Mr. Gilbert is author of the book "Cremora Violin Technique" and the instrument he has donated is a true copy of Stradivarius in thickness, tone and every minute detail. On the evening of the Rotary auction this instrument will be played by Rotarian Al Prescott.

Producers Must Collect Coupons

A warning has been issued to all butter producers by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that it is contrary to the provisions of the butter rationing order to dispose of any butter without the collection of valid ration coupons.

In the latest issue of the Prices Board Food Bulletin it is pointed out that even where a creamery or dairy is manufacturing butter for a customer from cream supplied by that customer, the butter must not be delivered until he surrenders the required number of ration coupons then valid for butter purchase.

Failure of a butter producer to collect the necessary coupons is considered a serious violation of the board's regulations and makes the producer liable to prosecution.

Must Inform Board Of Business Transfer

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board, in the latest issue of the Food Bulletin, has warned that any change in the ownership of a business which handles rationed foods must be reported Fascinating MARBLE CAKE Your Cakes Can Be Grand as This!

SUCH beautifully marbled cake—tender, moist and deliciously flavored—seems almost too grand for home bakers to make. But you don't need to be an expert, to get results like this with Swans Down Cake Flour!

Swans Down makes cakes that are wonderfully even-textured, light and velvety-crumbed—helps them stay fresh longer. Even when you save butter, shortening, sugar or eggs, results are exceptional with Swans Down.

Milled from choice Canadian wheat, Swans Down is sifted and re-sifted through silk, until superbly even and 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. Ingredient-saving or regular recipe, you'll bake a better cake with Swans Down.

MARBLE-LOAF CAKE

2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
2 teaspoons Columbian Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening (part butter preferred)
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten light
3/4 cup milk
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon (each) cloves and nutmeg
2 tablespoons molasses

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt; sift three times. Cream shortening thoroughly, add sugar gradually; cream until light. Add eggs and combine. Add flour, a small amount at a time, alternately with milk; beat smooth after each addition. Halve batter; to half add spices and molasses. Put by spoonfuls into greased loaf pan, 8 x 4 x 3 inches, alternating light and dark mixtures. Put light on dark and dark on light, in second layer. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Good with white or caramel icing.

Double Exhibition At Little Centre

Flower paintings of unusual charm and sensitive studies of wild ducks and geese will feature a double exhibition this coming week at the Little Centre. For his watercolor interpretations of wild birds, Robert Taylor of Sooke, late of the R.C.A.F., is winning increasing recognition in natural history and art circles. The colorful paintings of Mrs. Clara Martin of Duncan, have won high praise from flower lovers.

The double exhibition will be officially opened on Tuesday evening by A. M. D. Fairbairn, well-known artist and playwright.

Dr. J. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, will show a new technicolor film, "Fur Seals on the Pribilofs," filmed this summer during his survey for the federal government on the islands of St. George and St. Paul of the Pribilofs, when some unique pictures were obtained of fur seals, sea lions and the birds and wild flowers of that region.

Immediately to the local branch of the ration administration.

Quota documents and ration coupon bank accounts, it is explained, cannot be transferred from one quota user to another, nor can stocks of rationed foods be transferred without authority of the ration administration.

In some instances, it was said, some sellers have left with the new owner ration coupon cheque books with signed cheques in them. These cheques have been used by the new owner and this has caused embarrassment to both seller and purchaser.

After the ration branch has been informed stocks can be transferred and new documents issued with a minimum of trouble.

Rice Price Up But Supply Limited

If rice were obtainable in the stores here the prices would be higher than they were the last time it was seen on the shelves.

Under a recent order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board a rise in price was authorized to offset the lifting of the subsidy paid to milling companies.

Higher rice prices in the United States also affect the situation here since Canada imports rice from the United States and for 1946 received an allocation far below normal requirements, it was explained in the latest Food Bulletin of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The new ceiling is a flat $12 per hundredweight at the mill for round grain, long grain or Chinese-type rice. The previous ceiling was $8.50 per hundredweight.

At present there are only two mills importing rice into Canada.

"WHAT'S THIS STUFF CALLED Spinach- BUNNY?"

Whoa, baby! Better ask experts, like Aylmer, about spinach. For Aylmer supervises the growing of some of Canada's finest spinach—rushes it to Aylmer kitchens after picking—spray-pressure washes it in a real Niagara of water—then steam-pressure cooks it to retain vitamins and minerals.

No wonder Aylmer Strained Spinach—strained to 27/1000ths of an inch for easier digestion—is so good for baby! 20 other Aylmer varieties—all wholesome, nutritious and delicious.

Mount Douglas High School Tea

A well-attended parents' tea was held by students and staff of Mount Douglas High School recently in the school auditorium. The principal, E. Forster, assisted by Misses E. Gilson and K. Thompson, and J. Muir welcomed guests. Tea arrangements were in charge of Miss C. Sullivan and Hi-Y Girls.

Under the direction of N. Parfitt, the school choir sang several selections accompanied by B. Luff. Solos and duets were given by L. Stocker, A. Pettiford and V. Turnbull; piano solos by B. Luff, F. Robinson and V. Van Slyke.

Reports on student activities were presented by the following members of the students' council: V. Van Slyke, P. Emery, C. Malcolm and D. Robinson.

A committee of parents consisting of Mesdames G. W. Goddard, R. B. Nicholson, E. Robinson, A. Taylor, J. M. McGee, F. R. Wells and A. Brooks was formed and tentative arrangements made for a tea to be held Jan. 23.

J. F. K. English, senior inspector for Greater Victoria schools, was introduced to the guests.

I.O.D.E. Sponsor Bridge And Tea

A successful bridge and tea was held at the home of Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, St. Charles Street, Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter, I.O.D.E. Guests were received by Miss Christine McNab, president and Mrs. Nichol.

A Chinese antique bowl of peach chrysanthemums, flanked by tall yellow tapers in silver candelabra, was reflected in a decorated mirror which centred the tea table. Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps and Mrs. P. E. Corby presided at the urns.

Approximately $55 was realized and will go toward the World War Memorial Fund. General convener of the affair was Mrs. C. J. Walters, assisted by Mesdames Frank Partridge, Eileen Napper, W. L. Williams, Misses Pearl Barbour, Dorothy Locke, Nora Hensley, Hilda Margetts, Laura Tebb, Connie Chow, Jessie Knight and Beth Littlehales.

Wedding Vows Unite Well-Known B.C. Families

Mrs. George A. Birks, pictured in the traditional ceremony of tossing her wedding bouquet to girlhood friends who wait eagerly in the hall below. From right to left, her three attendants are Miss Mary Sagar, Miss Frances Harrison and Miss Joyce Waters.

St. John's United Scene Of Wedding

Rev. George Biddle solemnized the ceremony at St. John's United Church Saturday evening which united in marriage Miss Mary Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Freeman, 3438 Salisbury Way, to Roy Alexander English, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. English, 1021 Tolmie Avenue.

A teal blue afternoon dress of crepe, black hat and black and white accessories was worn by the bride as she entered the church with her father. A gold and turquoise brooch belonging to her grandmother, and a wrist watch, the gift of the groom, were her only jewelry and she chose a corsage bouquet of gardenias and swansonia to complete her costume.

Miss Clarice Patterson, bridesmaid, wore a dove-grey afternoon dress with black accessories and corsage bouquet of pink carnations. Barry English, the groom's brother, was best man and Douglas Corbett and Elwood Smith were ushers.

F. Chubb played wedding music and Douglas Gill sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Seamen's Institute Hall was the scene of the reception where mothers of the young couple assisted in receiving guests. Chester Price, uncle of the bridegroom, proposed the bridal toast.

The bride donned a dove-grey topcoat over her wedding costume for the honeymoon trip to Vancouver and Seattle. Mr. and Mrs. English will make their home at 3710 Craigmillar Avenue.

Of interest to many friends both in the city and on the mainland was the impressive candlelit ceremony Saturday evening which united in marriage Miss Audrie Mary Robertson, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Robertson, 1754 St. Ann Street and George Arnold Birks, eldest son of Mrs. G. A. Birks of Vancouver and the late Mr. Birks.

Tall standard baskets of white chrysanthemums formed the setting for the service read by Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay.

The bride entered the church with her father. She wore a blush satin gown featuring lace yoke and lace lily-point sleeves, with sweetheart neckline and long fitted bodice. A veil of illusion net, held with a coronet of orange blossoms, billowed over the full court train of the skirt. A single strand of pearls was her only jewelry and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and gardenias.

The bride's attendants made an attractive picture in their identical gowns of azure-blue crepe, styled with drop-shoulder period necklines, long fitted bodices, and full skirts. They wore chrysanthemum coronets in lavender shades repeated in their arm bouquets, and long mitts to match their gowns.

Maid of honor was Miss Joyce Waters and bridesmaids were Miss Mary Sagar and Miss Frances Harrison, of Vancouver.

The groom's brother, Peter Birks of Vancouver was best man. Ushers were Edwin Disner and Roy Harrison also of Vancouver.

Miss Jean Dumerton sang "O Perfect Love" while the register was being signed and James Gerry played the wedding music.

A reception followed at the Priory, Pemberton Road, where Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Birks assisted the bride and groom in welcoming guests. A three-tier cake, flanked by silver candelabra holding tall white tapers centred the table. Toast to the bride was proposed by Charles Fawcett.

A motor trip south is the honeymoon destination. For traveling the bride wore a Queen's blue wool gabardine suit and matching topcoat with luggage-tan accessories. A matching luggage-tan feather trimmed her Queen's blue hat and she wore a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Birks will return to Vancouver to take up residence.

Betty Barrington-Boam Bride Of R. J. Lambert

Miss Betty Barrington-Boam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Barrington-Boam, 2826 Colquitz Avenue, exchanged marriage vows Nov. 29, at 8, with Robert James Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Lambert, 483 Superior Street. Midst a setting of autumn flowers which decorated Gorge Presbyterian Church, Rev. T. H. McAllister performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Jack Barrington-Boam, the bride was gown in ivory satin, with Mary Stuart head-dress holding her floor-length veil. She wore a pendant and earrings, the gift of the groom, and carried a prayer book.

Her only attendant, Miss Connie Holmes, was gown in turquoise blue with matching head-dress. She carried a Colonial bouquet. The groom chose as best man, his brother, George Lambert. Alex Lister and Ken Matthews were ushers.

Guests were received following the ceremony at the Kit Kat Cafe by the bridal party, assisted by mothers of the bride and groom. Rev. McAllister proposed the toast to the bride.

Following their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert will make their home in Victoria.

Sir James Douglas—A meeting of Sir James Douglas P.T.A. will be held Tuesday at 8 in the auditorium. Candidates for school trustees will speak. Malcolm Hamilton will give piano selections. Games and social hour will follow.

Returns From Tour

Mrs. Alfred Watt, O.B.E., returned to Victoria recently from an eight-month tour of eastern Canada, where she lectured before many clubs and societies on "Personality in Public Speaking." Mrs. Watt, president of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, will go to Amsterdam in 1947 to preside at the triennial meeting of this world group. While in eastern Canada she represented Canadian Women's Institutes at a great gathering of outstanding women from all over the world, held in New York in early spring. She was also appointed delegate to attend U.N. meetings, but named a proxy for this position. In eastern Canada, Mrs. Watt visited her son, Sholto, in Montreal. "I'm delighted to be back in Victoria," she says. "Things move a little too fast for me back there. In this city at least they still practice courtesy and consideration for others as part of the day's work."

Price Controls Looming As Major Commons Battle

OTTAWA (CP) — The battle of controls shaped up today as the major fight of the new session of Parliament, scheduled to open late next month.

Following Prime Minister King's announcement in Quebec last Friday night that wage and salary controls have been lifted, political observers saw a tough fight ahead for the government in its effort to enforce its stated policy of removing other controls in a gradual, orderly manner.

Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties previously had urged lifting of all wartime controls on the ground this would stimulate production. A source close to the government today expressed belief these two parties would redouble their efforts in this direction when the new session opens.

The emergency legislation under which the controls are enforced is scheduled to end next March 31, or 60 days after the opening of Parliament, whichever is the shorter, and it is in this period the heaviest clashes are expected to take place.

FOOD CONTROLS MAJOR

Controls on matters seriously affecting the cost of living—such as rentals, food, fuel and clothing—are the chief restrictions the government is anxious to retain. But Prices Board Chairman Donald Gordon in his recent series of addresses on price control, emphasized no control would remain "five minutes longer than is necessary."

The government's policy, restated in Mr. King's Saturday announcement, is to remove controls on each service or commodity as soon as the danger of inflation in that particular field has disappeared. The Prime Minister, announcing abolition of wage and salary controls, stated: "The removal of controls shall take place in a gradual and orderly manner so as to protect the standards of living and value of the war savings of the people."

A high government authority, commenting on a report, not published by the Canadian Press, that all controls except rents would be lifted before Parliament meets, said Mr. King's remarks were a studied statement of government policy and the Prime Minister had given "all that could be said on the subject."

In particular, Mr. King mentioned food prices and rental restrictions, which Mr. Gordon said in a recent series of addresses had the most important bearing on the Canadian cost of living.

VIEWS IN QUEBEC

At the same time, the source, close to government circles said it was indicated the Liberal Party would have trouble in its own ranks over retention of controls. He said it was anticipated that at the first Liberal Party caucus the government would be urged, possibly by Quebec members, to relinquish at least some of the controls.

Closely related to the question was the pressure admittedly thrown on the price ceiling by the abolition of wage and salary restrictions. However, Prices Board officials said the new move was not expected to have any immediate or serious impact on prices.

Controls still in effect, which the government aims to remove by the end of 1947, cover a wide range of foods, the great majority of all clothing products, coal, wood and petroleum products, and rentals. Besides these basic cost-of-living factors are agricultural machinery and equipment, household goods, leather goods, tools and garden equipment, fishermen's equipment, construction products, chemicals and plastics, papers and paper products, certain services such as transportation, laundering, warehousing and storage, and supplying of meals.

Prices Board sources have declined to indicate the probable order of removal of controls on specific goods. But they have stated repeatedly that the items most important to the cost of living will be the last freed. These will be rentals, foods, clothing and fuel—possibly in that order.

To Address Authors

Prof. Earle Birney of the U.B.C. will be the speaker at a meeting of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Authors' Association, to be held in Room 301, Union Building, Saturday night at 8. Prof. Birney, who has twice won the Governor-General's poetry award, will deal with Canadian poetry and the Canadian Poetry Magazine. The meeting will be free to all who may be interested.

Legion To Appoint Expert To Survey Braefoot Houses

Robert MacNicol, secretary of the provincial command of the Canadian Legion, said in Vancouver Sunday night the Legion would appoint a "qualified man" to make a survey of veterans' housing following complaints from Victoria and other points by veterans who said their Veterans' Land Act homes were cheaply and faultily constructed.

The decision followed a meeting of the Legion with some of the veterans, and MacNicol said "even if the government does offer to pay for repairs, we are not satisfied."

"We are asking the government for a valuation of the houses as the men who have paid $5,500 to $7,000 are not satisfied. The construction in some cases is so bad they are afraid the houses won't be standing when they have finished paying for them."

"We are complaining chiefly about the price and then about the repairs which must be made. We are appointing a qualified man to do a survey of houses in different districts... our man will investigate the quality of materials among other things."

The housing action committee of the Legion endorsed the action of the B.C. command and decided to make a scrutiny itself on the conditions under which the veterans' housing contracts were let out.

The action follows complaints from veterans on the housing project at the Braefoot Estate at Victoria and from some points on the lower mainland that their new homes were "falling apart."

CONFERENCE TOMORROW

Meanwhile in Victoria, G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Nanaimo M.P., said he had been invited to attend a conference in Victoria Tuesday morning with I. T. Barnett, district superintendent of the Veterans' Land Act in Vancouver, officers of the Canadian Legion and the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council to discuss V.L.A. housing on the Braefoot Estate.

Officials of the V.L.A. announced in Ottawa earlier structural faults in the veterans' homes on the Braefoot Estate would be remedied without cost to the occupants.

In Ottawa Gordon A. Murchison, director of the V.L.A., said: "Certainly we know there are defects in some houses at Braefoot, the same kind you will get in any house these days."

"There is no use repairing cracked plaster and things like that until the houses have finished settling."

Mr. Barnett said in Vancouver the veterans in some cases had been asked not to occupy houses but had moved in anyway because they had no other accommodation.

"True, the cost of the houses exceeded expectations, not uncommon in building enterprises these days. The government made a $10,833 adjustment on the Braefoot project, spread over 28 houses. Final costs to the government varied between $5,433 and $7,500."

W.K. Esling, Former Kootenay M.P., Dies

ROSSLAND, B.C. (CP)—William K. Esling, 78, pioneer publisher and Conservative Member of Parliament for Kootenay West for 20 years, died here today after a lengthy illness.

He entered politics in 1920 when he was elected to the B.C. Legislature and he entered the federal field in 1925, representing the Kootenay constituency until his retirement in 1945 at the end of the 19th Parliament. He was never beaten at the polls.

Mr. Esling, born in Philadelphia, where he learned the printing trade, arrived in the Kootenays during the mining boom of 1896, coming from Olympia, Wash. He purchased the Trail News, which he published continuously until 1915. He also published the Rossland Record and the Rossland Miner. Failing sight compelled his retirement from the newspaper field.

Scout Entertainment

Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs of Esquimalt district presented an enjoyable variety show at Lampson Street School. Fred Cooper was master of ceremonies. The program opened with a piano and clarinet duet by Harry McManus and George Glover, who later gave a fine rendition of "Body and Soul," from the Ziegfeld Follies. Pamela Newton sang "Break o' Day" and the English ballad, "Cuckoo." A monologue and poem by Rudyard Kipling was given by Fred Cooper, also vocals of "Old Man River" and "Asleep in the Deep." A clever dancing performance was given by Doreen Boli and Marjorie Hallmark.

The Esquimalt packs, under the leadership of Mrs. I. Levy and Mrs. R. Cove, contributed songs around the campfire. The troop under E. Levy demonstrated that boys in the Scout movement are kept out of trouble by the many activities and adventure that Scouting brings to them.

Lighting effects were handled by Mrs. F. Cooper.

Flood Increases Along Upper Thames

LONDON (Reuter) — Flood waters in the upper reaches of the Thames River, in some areas the highest for 19 years, rose another three inches in the Windsor, Berks, and Maidenhead, Berks, sections today, turning grasslands into lakes and threatening to maroon many riverside homes.

Residents hastened to transfer belongings to safer ground. There was a slight reduction in rainfall for most parts of Britain today, but the Air Ministry issued gale warnings to all coastal areas today and fresh heavy rains were expected.

The 19,000-ton Cunard White Star liner Samaria, bound for Liverpool from Canada with 2,000 German prisoners of war and a few civilian passengers, was still sheltering from the gale off the Welsh coast. The Samaria was due to dock Sunday morning and is now expected at Liverpool early tonight.

Value Of B.C. Fishing Industry Up Nearly $10,000,000 In 1945

British Columbia commercial fishermen, numbering 829 more than in 1944, in 1945 caught fish valued at $9,630,868 more than in 1944.

This was shown today in the annual report of the provincial fisheries department for 1945, which put at $44,531,858 the value of the total catch, $18,193,201 the capital invested in vessels and gear and 13,292 the number of persons engaged in primary operations.

Capital invested in fish processing plants was set at $18,935,254, and the number of persons engaged in secondary operations at 6,038, a decrease of 112 from 1944.

"The salmon-fishery, the most important single fishery in the Dominion, showed an increase of 633,930 cwt. or 59 per cent in the quantity caught and an increase of $4,012,418 in landed value, or 53 per cent," said the report. "The total marketed value of this fish was $25,424,954, an increase of $9,801,731 or 62 per cent. Salmon accounted for almost 57 per cent of the total marketed value of the fisheries of the province."

Holding second place in value of 1945 fisheries was herring, valued at $8,423,136. The quantity landed increased by 38 per cent in 1945, while the market value of herring increased by 25 per cent.

"Halibut advanced to third place, as compared with fourth in 1944, with a marketed value of $3,318,215," said the report.

"Grayfish livers and the vitamin oil produced from them was the fourth item in order of value, at $2,347,631. The quantity of oil produced fell by 21 per cent and the value by 36 per cent."

The report said the total quantity of fish taken, including shellfish, was 5,446,291 cwt., an increase of 857,066 cwt. from 4,583,226 cwt. taken in 1944, and the value to fishermen at the point of landing was $21,200,645, an increase of 18 per cent from the previous year.

The total canned salmon pack in B.C. in 1945 amounted to 1,739,312 cases, an increase of 641,755 cases over the total pack

Lantigen

SERIES OF 6 DISSOLVED ORAL VACCINES TO BE TAKEN BY MOUTH

A Colds are due to virus infections. The secondary invasion of bacteria follows the initial virus infection producing and intensifies the symptoms. Lantigen 'A' supplies antigens, not of the virus, but of these secondary bacterial invaders.

B Catarrh, sinus and antrum infections with resultant bronchitis and bronchial asthma are commonly due to a group of bacteria. Lantigen 'B' is a solution of antigens derived from these bacteria.

C Rheumatism, arthritis, and neuritis are believed frequently due to focal infection. Lantigen 'C' contains antigens of the organisms from these foci of infection.

D Pimples, boils, carbuncles and abscesses are commonly due to staphylococci and streptococci. Lantigen 'D' contains antigens of staphylococci and streptococci.

E Hay Fever. Lantigen 'E' contains antigens derived from the pollen of grasses and weeds which are the common causes of hay fever in Canada. In addition Lantigen 'E' contains antigens from the bacteria which commonly infect the upper respiratory tract.

F Whooping Cough. Lantigen 'F' consists of antigens derived from the organism of whooping cough and, in addition, the organisms which frequently complicate whooping cough.

Molotov Suggested As Stalin Successor

LONDON (AP)—An unexpected new publicity buildup for Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia in the government-controlled Russian press set tongues wagging throughout Europe today in the popular game of trying to pick Premier Stalin's successor.

Many diplomats and others who had not regarded Molotov as the most likely candidate were inclined to guess again after Moscow newspapers, reporting the 56-year-old Russian diplomat's election as an honorary member of the Soviet Academy of Science, lauded him lengthily as Premier Stalin's closest assistant.

This almost unprecedented singling out of a Stalin deputy for public praise came less than a month after Stalin, 67 years old and by some accounts in poor health, failed for the second consecutive year to take part in the recent countrywide celebration of the Russian Revolution anniversary.

To some students of Soviet affairs it looked as if Stalin might be stepping down, or perhaps be gradually relinquishing his powers, as though Molotov was perhaps being groomed for advancement.

Molotov, undoubtedly the Russian leader best known to the western world by virtue of his prominence in big power deliberations at London, Paris and New York, has been a life-long worker for the Communist Party and is one of the eight vice-chairmen of Russia's council of ministers, of which the premier is chairman.

Training To Improve Handling Of Food

OTTAWA (CP)—Improved methods of food handling and sanitation in Canadian restaurants are the aim of a campaign to be launched tomorrow by the Health League of Canada.

The league will conduct a model "short course" for Ottawa restaurant employees and hopes the experiment will be the forerunner of a continuous educational program throughout the Dominion through which restaurant personnel will learn of modern sanitation and food handling methods which will benefit both themselves and their customers.

Invitations to attend the series of lectures and films have been issued to federal and civic health officials.

Participation in the plan by restaurant employers depends first on the approval of the medical health officer in the community concerned.

Restaurants displaying certificates of membership in the Health League plan must agree to adhere to sanitation standards set by the local health department, serve only pasteurized milk, promote observance of Canada's food rules and reduction of food wastage, and co-operate with the local health authorities in providing health education opportunities for their personnel.

New Warming Device For 1948 Motorcars

DETROIT (AP)—Among the things to look for in the 1948 model automobiles will be engines that will start as readily in sub-zero temperatures as in midsummer weather.

If current indications are borne out this will be achieved through the installation—as an integral part of the power plant—of a toy-sized oil burner designed to automatically keep the coolant in the engine water-jacket at a constant temperature whether the engine is operating or standing idle.

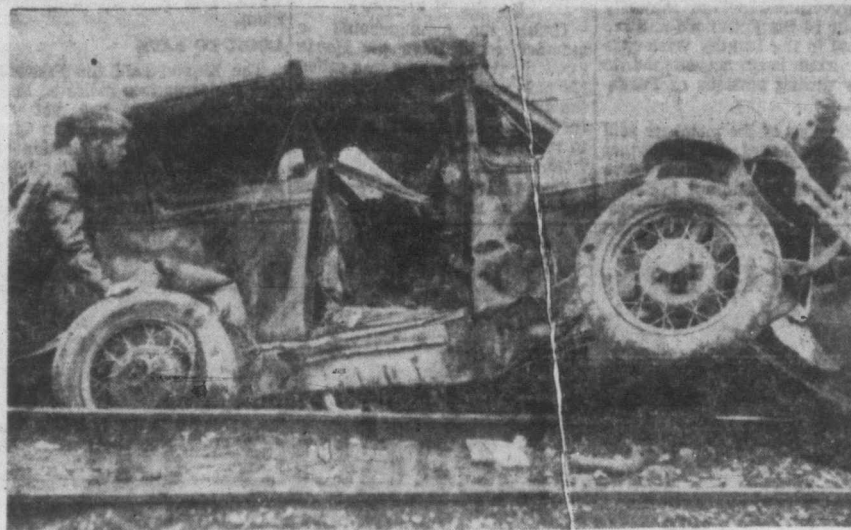

Ward's Automotive Reports, first to report development of the device, calls it "a forward step in automotive vehicle design potentialities of almost revolutionary scope."

With the tiny burner, using a virtually negligible amount of fuel, the engine will be kept warm, even if the car is parked out of doors all day or all night in the coldest weather. The warm engine means immediate vaporization of the gasoline, instant flowing of crankcase oil, greatly lowered oil dilution,

Man Killed In Rail-Crossing Accident

Riding with his brother in an auto which stalled on a level crossing just south of Milton, Ont., Earl Alexander Timbers was killed in collision with a freight train which wrecked his car. When the car stalled, they jumped out, the driver said.

longer life for bearings and pistons, and, of course, virtually no battery drain.

Aside from quick cold-weather starting, availability of unchanging engine heat at all times means also an entirely new approach to heating and ventilating of cars, trucks and buses. With unvarying temperature in the interior of the vehicle, fogging and frosting of windows also should be eliminated.

The device, well beyond the experimental stage, already has been installed in some buses and is reported to be performing up to all expectations. It is described as adaptable with equal efficiency to either Diesel or gasoline powered vehicles.

Wait till you taste a zesty fish loaf made with Heinz Condensed Vegetable Soup

FISH LOAF

1 cup flaked cooked fish 3 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup dry bread cubes 1 1/2 cups Heinz Condensed Vegetable Soup, without meat, undiluted
2 tablespoons finely diced green pepper
1/2 cup finely diced celery 3 green pepper rings
1 tablespoon finely diced onion 1 hard-cooked egg, sliced

Combine first seven ingredients. Grease a loaf pan and arrange green pepper rings in bottom. Place a slice of hard-cooked egg in the center of each. Pack loaf mixture in pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 45 to 60 minutes, or until firm. Turn out on platter. Serve hot or cold and serve as a cold salad loaf. Serves 10 cold or 6 hot.

What to do about Colds

In these days when so much is to be done and so few to do it, the loss of time caused by colds becomes more serious than ever. Isn't it about time we considered colds seriously and did something about them?

Here are some timely suggestions which, we believe, will help you to escape having colds or to check them and save valuable time.

1. The cold germ gets you when your general health is under par or when you are tired out by overwork or worry. You can largely avoid this condition and often escape colds by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to help build up your health to high water mark. Rich red blood is the greatest of germicides and Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies the food minerals and Vitamin B-1 which make the blood rich and nourishing.

2. If you do feel a cold coming on, act quickly and you may check it entirely or at least shorten its course. Try this. Take Dr. Chase's Paradol, a good drink of hot lemonade or ginger tea, and rest in bed. Repeat this treatment if necessary. Paradol does not disappoint.

3. Should you be so unfortunate as to have a cold in its later stages, with coughing and irritation of the throat and bronchial tubes, use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. This treatment has been a great favourite in many thousands of homes for over half a century. It is pleasant to take and remarkably effective in helping to relieve coughs, colds, croup and bronchitis.

Instead of neglecting colds, plan ahead by having these medicines in your home. Some one is sure to need them. The wise course is to prevent colds by keeping the health at high water mark. Let Dr. Chase's Nerve Food help you to do this.

Quebec, Ontario M.P.'s May Lose Free Week-Ends

OTTAWA (CP)—The forthcoming session of Parliament is being awaited with some uneasiness by Quebec Liberal members of the Commons, it was learned today. Parliament is expected to open at the end of January.

Some of the members look at the government's slim majority of four in the Commons and see an end to the lengthy week-ends they have been accustomed to enjoy during sessions of Parliament.

A number of the members said they have heard indirectly that the Progressive Conservative Party plans to attempt to defeat the government on every opportunity during the session. Such a policy would mean an end to the pausing arrangements in force at previous sessions.

Under the arrangements a member could leave the House knowing that if a vote was called his party would not participate in the division. Thus it was possible for Quebec and Ontario members to return home practically every week-end.

One Liberal member went as far as to say he believed the Progressive Conservatives were putting out feelers to learn if any Quebec Liberal members would join a coalition government.

LOOK TO S.C.'S

The Liberal said the Progressive Conservatives indicated they felt their party had not regained sufficient ground in Quebec as yet to assure election of an over-all majority group. He said that while the Progressive Conservatives in an election at this time might have the largest group of members elected, the party likely would need the support of the Social Credit and some Quebec members in order to form a government.

He said he was given, to understand, the government has much of its legislation ready and will give notice of it in the early days of the session.

He believed it unlikely that the contentious flag issue will be revived at this session, because of the continued opposition of Quebec members to the red ensign.

The redistribution of Commons seats to take care of the authorized increase of from 245 to 255 members likely would not take as long as originally expected.

Australians Score Record 645 In Test Cricket Match

BRISBANE (Reuter) — Rain and bad light today reduced play on the third day of the six-day test match between England and Australia to 99 minutes.

The remaining five Australian wickets went down for 50 runs and the Aussies were all out for 645 runs. In the short time that remained for play England suffered a bad blow when Len Hutton was dismissed by Keith Miller, after scoring seven runs. When play ended for the day England had 21 runs for one wicket.

The Australian total is the highest test score made by any side in Australia, topping England's best of 633 in Sydney eight years ago.

Unless the weather becomes worse the pitch should roll out easily tomorrow morning.

Rangers Beat Chicago; Boston-Detroit Draw

What looked like a collapse of the Chicago Black Hawks featured the week-end National Hockey League games. While the joint pace-setters, Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens, were lengthening their lead, the Hawks sank deeper in the cellar after two thumping defeats.

The Hawks looked like a minor-league outfit at Toronto Saturday night, where they were victims of an 11 to 0 defeat in which the Leafs rang up 27 scoring points. Canadiens kept even with Leafs by walloping Detroit 4 to 1 at Montreal.

And on Sunday the Hawks lost on their own ice to the New York Rangers, but it wasn't nearly so bad. Rangers won a 2 to 1 decision on De Marco's goal in the last five minutes. In the other Sunday game the Bruins came from behind to gain a 3 to 2 tie with Detroit Red Wings at Boston.

Result is that Toronto and Montreal today, with 21 points each, have a three-point margin over Boston, and Detroit is another point back in fourth place. Detroit is three points ahead of Rangers, and Rangers are three points ahead of Chicago, who aren't ahead of anybody.

Tommy Druce's Goal Earns Victoria Draw

Centre-forward Tommy Druce's goal from right-winger Denny Shubrooke's cross, with six minutes of playing time remaining, earned Victoria United a 1 to 1 draw with Kerrisdale in Saturday's Pacific Coast League soccer match. It marked the final game in the first half for the United and left them with a record of four draws and six defeats.

After being down 1 to 0 at halftime the United staged a brilliant comeback in the second half to completely dominate play. Despite the fact they literally poured leather at goal, Bobby Byford in the Kerrisdale net it looked like the local club would go down to defeat as poor shooting and lack of finish in front of goal robbed them of the equalizer time after time. On the other hand Byford gave a sound performance to clear dangerous drives several times.

Changes in the Victoria line-up were sound. Joe Travis was a definite improvement in goal while Ken Druce turned in a creditable stand at fullback. Rookie Wright, with a few more games under his belt, will be a big asset at centerhalf.

GREER SCORES

Kerrisdale, after showing a lot of smart football in the first half, tired badly in the final 45 minutes, being dangerous only on a couple of quick breakaways. Hughie Greer, at inside left, opened the scoring at the 33-minute mark when he snapped up Matheson's pass and deflected the ball off an upright into the net.

Early in the second half Druce was in the clear with only Byford to beat and drove the ball direct at the goalie. Minutes later George Payne cut loose with a bullet shot that Byford just touched enough to deflect the ball off the crossbar. Another hard drive by Speller was gathered in by Byford but the

New Westminster In Third Straight Coast Hockey Win

Week-end games in the Pacific Coast Hockey League saw the high-flying Hollywood Wolves chalk up their 19th win in 22 starts as they defeated San Francisco Shamrocks, 5 to 4, in San Francisco.

The Wolves came from behind to tie up the game in the third period and put it away with a "sudden death" overtime goal by Pete Backer. Referee Red Conn, the only casualty of the evening, suffered a broken nose when he got in the way of a swinging stick.

Los Angeles Monarchs punched home 10 consecutive goals for a new scoring record as they trounced the lowly Oakland Oaks, 12 to 3, in Los Angeles.

The Oaks received another setback, this time from San Diego, when they lost by a 5 to 3 count in San Diego.

In New Westminster, Fresno Falcons were defeated, 6 to 3, to become the third victim of the New Westminster Royals as the Royals marked up their third victory in as many nights.

In another game, Fresno Falcons came back with a win, defeating the northern division's top team, Seattle Ironmen, by 3 to 1 in Seattle.

In a rough game that nearly became a free-for-all, Tacoma's last-place Rockets defeated the sliding Vancouver Canucks, 6 to 3, in Tacoma.

Continual pressure of the Victoria club finally paid off when Druce converted Shubrooke's cross.

In a game at Vancouver Saturday, St. Saviours held North Shore to a 3 to 3 deadlock.

St. Louis College Overwhelm Goblins In Gridiron Clash

Playing on a muddy field and in driving rain, St. Louis College Bobcats trounced the Oak Bay Goblins 31 to 6 in the only contest of the seven-man American Football League Sunday.

The first game scheduled between Navy and J.B.A.A. was awarded to the sailors by default when the Bays were unable to field a team.

After building up a first-half lead of 13 to 0, Bobcats sewed up the match by three second-half touchdowns. Oak Bay scored their only points in the third period as their backs had difficulty handling the slippery ball.

A snare end run with O'Brien carrying the ball accounted for the first touchdown. The conversion was good for the extra point. Two minutes before half time Collegians made it 13 to 0 as Jim Ranson broke away and outspurred the safety man to score.

Each team tallied once in the third period, with O'Brien going over for College and Prevost for the Goblins. The last quarter was all Bobcats again as they opened up with a passing attack that accounted for two more touchdowns, Clarkson and O'Brien going over.

Dog Notes

By PETER BOGGS

Harry Goudge, of Sacramento, Calif., drove to Nevada City, 58 miles away, and parked his car. After attending to some personal business he returned to the machine. Much to his surprise he found a dog sitting in the front seat.

Two years before, when Goudge was ill in a hospital, his dog Skipper had disappeared. It was this same Skipper that Goudge found in his automobile that day in Nevada City. Where the dog had been during the past two years was a mystery. But stranger still is how the dog happened to find his master's car in a strange city, and who opened the door allowing the dog to get in.

It's an established fact that dogs have keen memories for familiar scents. Chances are that Skipper was passing Goudge's car when he noticed a scent he recognized—that of his former master. Perhaps a passerby was attracted by the dog's actions of sudden joy and understood that the animal wanted to get in the car, so he opened the door for him.

THE PUP AND HIS TOYS

A friend of mine had a beautiful cocker spaniel pup which died recently from swallowing a lump of rubber which he chewed from a toy bone. The toy was his favorite plaything. But he had gnawed and bitten it and carried it around in his mouth so long that it had lost its resiliency and had begun to rot. It is not the first time such a misfortune has befallen a pup; nor will it be the last time. More often, death or internal injury is caused by swallowing the "whistle" and tin-tacks and other bits of metal attached to rubber balls and rubber animals.

A hard, unrotted rubber toy is a good plaything for a puppy, especially if it has just enough resiliency to make it interesting to chew. But, remove all metal from any toy before giving it to him to bite on. Too many pups have died because this precaution was not taken.

The ideal toy for any pup is one of his owner's old shoes, from which the metal eyelets, etc., have been taken off. Not only is the shoe a delight for him to chew and to romp with, but often it teaches him to recognize the scent of the owner's steps and how to follow his trail. Most pups prefer such a shoe to any other form of plaything.

WELL-FED DOG

I don't know whether this dog is still alive, but if he is, he should be the best-fed dog in Salem, Oregon. He was eight or nine a number of years ago. At that time, a Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saunders, who lived in an apartment house, owned a little cocker spaniel. The dog would take a cardboard pie plate and go to the door of a neighbor's apartment, set the plate down in front of the door and bark. If no one answered he would pick up the plate and duplicate the performance at the door of another apartment. Generally, the bark was answered by a housewife bringing a donation for the cardboard plate. The dog would bark his thanks, lick up the donation, and then go to another apartment and repeat the performance.

DOG CONTROL AND ACCIDENTS

In the "horse and buggy days" the problem of keeping a dog from death in traffic was extremely simple. Few were the horse-drawn vehicles which could overtake or harm a normal dog. He had little trouble, if any at all, keeping clear of them. True, dogs occasionally were hit by railroad locomotives, but few dogs were allowed to go near the tracks.

Now, all that immunity has disappeared. Every dog who ventures out upon the street or road runs a very real risk of death. Throngs of motor vehicles whiz everywhere, some of them driven by individuals so irresponsible that they should not be granted licenses, and thousands of dogs a year die screaming under the wheels of cars.

Thus, it is up to the owner of the dog to see that the animal is wholly under control and obedient to his call before allowing him off the leash on country roads or in streets. Carelessness on your part, in not teaching your dog to come to you or go back or stand still instantly at your command, may well cost his life.

An ounce of training is worth more than a ton of grieving over a dead pet.

AN EXPENSIVE DOG

A law suit over the rightful ownership of a small English bulldog that went through the courts, recently reaching the Probate Court in New York City, cost both sides over $1,700 for court and attorneys' fees. Two days before a decision was to be

U.S. Pro Golf Association Wants Stars To Keep Dates

CHICAGO (AP)—Reluctance of some star golfers to continue the grind of playing a schedule of 40-odd tournaments a year is a problem now being considered by the United States Professional Golfers' Association.

Ed Dudley of Colorado Springs, Colo., who was elected P.G.A. president for his sixth term recently, said the executive committee was studying methods of urging players to compete in tournaments for which they are booked. This would avoid dissension among sponsors because of absenteeism of big name drawing cards.

Dudley said the new tournament program would include the establishment of a tournament bureau office in Chicago to serve as a clearing house for players and sponsors alike.

Byron Nelson, who retired to his Texas ranch last fall with the decision to play in only major meets each season, may be followed by such top performers as Ben Hogan and Sam Snead who also would like to pick their spots in the future and appear in 10 or so big meets instead of traveling on the circuit 40 weeks a year.

Yet if the big name players pass up most of the tournaments, the sponsors who put the usual prize of $10,000 on the line will protest. They contend that stars are needed to make their tournaments successful and would like the P.G.A. to guarantee the appearance of 10 to 15 of the top

United States golfers for each meet. The 1946 tourney schedule covered 45 weeks, and applications already have been received from 100 sponsors wanting meets next year.

Meet the "UTILITY FAMILY"

A pleasant smile and a cheery "Good Morning" are never-failing when Victoria's electricity and gas consumers pay their accounts at the B.C. Electric's Douglas Street Store, where Miss Nancy Anthony presides over the cashier's cage. Another native Victorian who joined the company's family of employees, Miss Anthony has been with us for six years.

She first started in our customer accounting department in the Langley Street offices, but after a year there she took over duties as the Douglas Street cashier, where she thoroughly enjoys meeting the hundreds of B.C. Electric consumers who come into the store daily.

Miss Anthony, incidentally, is among our company's talented musicians and is a keen student of classical works for piano and voice.

100 New Buses

One hundred more buses, worth $1,760,000 have been ordered by the B.C. Electric, E. W. Arnott, vice-president in charge of transportation, announced in Vancouver today.

Arrival of the first 50 units has been promised by the Twin Coach

Company for the second and third quarters of 1947. The remaining 50 buses will be delivered several months later.

W. C. Mainwaring, Vancouver Island vice-president of B.C. Electric operations, stated that some of the new buses referred to in the order would be brought to Victoria if the franchise was approved on election day.

Two Escape When Ex-Sailor Killed In Esquimalt Accident

Rinaldo Bombardier, 21 years, 1726 Stanley Avenue, killed in a traffic accident on Esquimalt Road near Macaulay Road late Saturday night, was one of three persons thrown from a light old-model truck to the pavement when the truck hit a guard rail and pole and careened across the street.

The two others, the driver and a girl passenger, suffered only bruises and slight shock.

Esquimalt police Chief Gil Stancombe said the driver was John P. Southwell, 1215 Chapman Street, and the girl was Miss Connie Herbert, 1009 Burdett Avenue.

The trio were returning to town from Esquimalt at approximately 11.35 when the truck failed to negotiate a curve, hit the rail and pole on the south side of the road finally stopped on the other side resting against a bank on its side.

All three occupants who were sitting in the front seat, were believed to have been hurled through the right-hand door which flew open after hitting the rail. Bombardier was believed to have been sitting on the outside with the girl between him and the driver.

Confirmation of the accident by eye-witnesses is being sought by Esquimalt police who issued a request today for anyone knowing anything about the accident to get in touch with them immediately.

Bombardier who served in the navy during the war and who was hoping to enlist in the permanent R.C.A.F. in the near future, had been employed a short time by Southwell, Southwell was in brick and concrete construction work.

The 21-year-old victim lived with his widowed mother, Mrs. T. Bombardier. His father died several years ago and a brother died last year.

In the accident he suffered mainly from head injuries. He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by police and on arrival was pronounced dead by Dr. F. W. Arber.

Police said this was the first traffic accident in recent years at this curve which was straightened considerably after it had become well known as a hazard for motorists. Many accidents which had occurred at the location before the road was repaired included one fatal accident in the late 20's.

Christmas Shoppers Out Early As Gift Supplies Dwindle

"Do your Christmas shopping early" has become more than a hopeful prayer on the part of store proprietors this year.

Supplies in some lines are plentiful, but in the most-sought-after items the supply will not begin to meet the demand, shop clerks report. On the whole, shoppers are getting on the job considerably earlier than they did last year, particularly those buying toys. In other lines, such as men's and women's wear, the rush is just starting.

For the kiddies there are lots of toys on the market. Tricycles are virtually all gone, and stores report no more will be coming in before Christmas. One store sold out its entire stock within half an hour of the opening of toyland a week ago.

There was a fair supply of metal toys on the market, but they are practically all sold, although there are lots of wagons and doll buggies left. There is also a plentiful supply of roller skates, which are proving a popular item.

Little sister will get her doll, but if Mummy and Daddy don't hurry she'll have to be content with one with real hair, because they are nearly all gone. There are more than enough stuffed and soft toys than needed for the very young children.

Also on the market this year are a lot of toy musical instruments, metal dishes (now nearly all gone), toy sewing machines, and balloons.

Mother and big sister are facing disappointment if they want undies or stockings under the Christmas tree. Supplies are no greater than they were last year, and the demand is away up. There are a few nylon slippers and panties to be had but they are very expensive. Nylon stockings of course will show the ultimate of self-sacrifice on the part of the giver, because it takes a hardy soul to face a stocking line-up to buy a Christmas present.

PLENTY OF COSMETICS

There are lots of all types of cosmetics to be had, from small packages of fancy soaps and bath powders, to large, expensive chests containing everything in the cosmetic line that gildy could wish for.

Scarfs, dainty hankies, fancy slippers, and stationery are all to be had in quantity.

For the shopper who is really stuck there is always a good record of the inevitable "good book" that can be bought as a present.

Dad and big brother aren't in very much better position than mother when it comes to the gift question. There are very few dress shirts, underwear or pyjamas to be had. What little stocks do come into the stores are snapped up almost before they are put on the counters.

There are some socks to be had, but the selection is poor and the buyer has little choice.

There is a fair supply of the more expensive sports shirts, mostly wool, retailing from $10 up. There are also lots of ties, scarfs and white linen hankies from England.

A fair number of sweaters are also on the market but again the selection is limited and they are fairly expensive.

100 Canadian Sailors Parade In Mexico City For Inauguration

MEXICO CITY (CP)—Men of the Royal Canadian Navy marched into the hearts of Mexicans Sunday, striding along in perfect step, arms swinging and wearing their best blue uniforms.

The contingent—100 strong—from the Dominion's Pacific fleet now anchored in Acapulco Harbor were given a tremendous ovation by tens of thousands who watched the parade held at the inauguration ceremonies of Mexico's new President, Miguel Aleman.

The President himself took the salute from a balcony in the National Palace.

Watching the smartly-turned-out Canadian party from the diplomatic boxes which flanked President Aleman's position were Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, Canadian Ambassador to Mexico, members of the Canadian embassy staff and Capt. Frank Houghton, who is commanding manoeuvres from aboard the aircraft carrier Warrior. Capt. Houghton flew here from Acapulco to become the Canadian naval attaché for the formal diplomatic ceremonies at the inauguration.

Commanding the R.C.N. contingent was Lt.-Cmdr. Eric W. Boak of Victoria. The men selected were chosen for their exemplary record in the service.

Along the parade route of more than five miles, despite a hot sun, the Canadians swung as if they were on a parade square at home.

Later in the day the contingent were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Keenleyside at the Canadian embassy.

After seeing a bullfight in Mexico City's arena, the R.C.N. party will return to Acapulco tomorrow to rejoin the H.M.C.S. Warrior, Uganda and the Crescent. The Uganda is commanded by Capt. Kenneth Adams of Victoria.

Tuesday the fleet will put to sea to continue the aerial and tactical manoeuvres which are being held as it cruises back to Esquimalt.

Since the Uganda joined the Little Change In Job Conditions

Employment conditions in Victoria remained about the same during the past month, according to an official of the National Employment office who reported that jobs available for men during past week numbered 325, a decrease of one over the previous week.

There were 38 clerical jobs available for men, he said, but positions called for skilled or very experienced clerical workers. There were still many jobs for women seeking jobs as sales clerk or for those who wished to enter domestic service, he said.

Jobs available for males were listed as follows: Clerical, 38; sales, 48; service, 18; agriculture, 5; logging, 21; construction, 22; skilled and semi-skilled workers, 33; heavy labor 53 and light labor, 27.

Jobs available for women were: Clerical, 38; sales, 51; domestic, 99; laundry and dry cleaning, 16, and unskilled workers, 18.

Dr. Peter Straith Passes At Comox

Dr. Peter Luther Straith, 62, passed away suddenly Sunday morning at his home at Comox, following a heart attack.

A resident of Comox for the past 15 years, with practice in Courtenay, Dr. Straith was born at Holstein, Ont., and received his early education at Woodstock and Mount Forest. He taught school for a number of years on the prairies and later returned to Ontario and attended the University of Toronto, where he graduated in medicine.

Dr. Straith practiced for about 15 years in Regina before moving to Vancouver Island.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Dr. D. A. Hewitt and Miss Helen Straith of this city; one son, Douglas, attending the University of British Columbia; five brothers, William G. George, Alex, Martin and Balfour, and four sisters.

A private family service will be held Thursday afternoon at McCall's Floral Funeral Chapel.

The Victoria Town Planning Commission will meet in the City Hall Friday evening at 7.30. Forrest L. Shaw, chairman, announced today.

Thanks U.S. Senator Suggesting Victoria U.N.O. Home Site

A telegram of appreciation to United States Senator Warren G. Magnuson, Seattle (Dem.-Wash.), for his action in recommending that U.S.A. delegates at the U.N.O. Assembly in New York advance the name of Victoria, B.C., as an ideal site for the permanent headquarters of the organization, was dispatched over the week-end by H. Cuthbert Holmes, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The Victoria chamber president's wire read: "Greatly appreciate your broad vision and generous action in suggesting Victoria, V.I., be amongst those considered for U.N.O.'s home. Our outstanding geographical and natural advantages together with Canada's long record as a peace-loving, square-dealing and forward-looking nation and her proximity to the United States, constitute powerful arguments in favor of your proposal."

George I. Warren, secretary of the chamber, noted this morning that when the question of a U.N.O. homesite was first brought up, R. W. Mayhew, M.P., wrote to Ottawa suggesting that Victoria be recommended by the Canadian government to fill this role.

Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society will meet at the City Hall next Thursday at 8, when officers will be elected.

WHEN IS THE TIME TO SELL?

Past experience tells us that the time to sell real estate is in a seller's market, when prices are high and buyers are numerous.

Today we have such a market. Prices may go higher, but it is difficult to guess the top of the market, and YOU MAY WAIT TOO LONG!

A property owner is at a disadvantage when he attempts to do his own selling. He is too close to his own property and his sense of value is distorted. We are experienced in valuing, selling and financing real estate. Let us help you to discuss with us your real estate problems. Your confidence will be respected.

Months When Japanese Ordered Deported Not Ordinary Times, Says Privy Council

LONDON (CP)—The judgment of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council upholding the right of the government of Canada to deport Japanese was handed down by Lord Wright during a brief sitting today. The case, which opened here last July 16, was argued for four days at that time before Lord Simmonds and four other law lords.

F. A. Brewin, a Toronto lawyer, argued the appeal against the Supreme Court of Canada ruling and said Canadian legislation did not delegate to the Governor-General-in-Council the power to deport British subjects whatever their racial origin.

Dominion government representatives argued the 10,000 of the 24,000 Japanese in Canada who had signified their desire to go to Japan before the war ended, should not be allowed to remain in Canada in peace.

They said also the deportation of about 500 Japanese nationals would be in the national interest.

Orders permitting the Canadian labor minister to order the Japanese to be deported were passed under the War Measures Act and were continued by the transitional act assented to Dec. 18, 1945.

On the orders generally the Privy Council said that in an emergency, "the interests of the Dominion are to be protected and it rests with the Parliament of the Dominion to protect them. What those interests are the Parliament of the Dominion must be left with considerable freedom to judge."

M.P.'S MAKE POLICY
The judgment added: "It is not pertinent to the judiciary to consider the wisdom or propriety of the particular policy embodied in the emergency legislation. Determination of the policy to be followed is exclusively a matter for the Parliament of the Dominion and those to whom it has delegated its powers."

When the case was argued before the Privy Council, Mr. Brewin contended the only grounds for deporting a naturalized citizen arose when his loyalty was in question.

He held the War Measures Act authorized deportation only in a limited sense and therefore deportation orders-in-council were ultra vires because they exceeded that authority.

On the other hand Hon. Gordon Wismer, Attorney-General of British Columbia, argued the orders-in-council authorizing deportation should be put into effect "even if certain sections (of the orders) were considered beyond the power of Canada."

Mr. Wismer closed the case for the Dominion government. Associated with him were Frank Gahan, London barrister who formerly lived in Hamilton, Ont., and H. E. O'Donnell, K.C., of London.

Mr. Wismer told the Privy Council:

"My submission is that these orders can be dealt with severally even if your lordships find that one class of persons should not be deported."

The Privy Council's judgment today said the judiciary was not concerned with whether the executive would be able to carry emergency measures into effective operation.

It added it was not therefore necessary for the Privy Council to recount the circumstances leading up to the orders or the arrangements for their execution.

ACT NOT QUESTIONED
The validity of the War Measures Act was not questioned although the validity of the orders-in-council providing for deportation was challenged "on many grounds."

The Privy Council judgment said on the argument that forcible removal to a foreign country of British subjects was contrary to the nature of legislation in any particular case has to be considered to determine if it is right on a question of construction to advert to these principles.

"In their Lordship's view those principles find no place in the construction of the War Measures Act," the judgment said. "The act is directed to exercise by the Governor-General-in-Council of powers vested in the Parliament of the Dominion at a time when invasion or insurrection or their apprehension exists."

NOT ORDINARY TIMES
"The accepted rules of international law applicable in times of peace can hardly have been in contemplation and the inference cannot be drawn that the Parliament of the Dominion implicitly

St. keepers Suffer In Shanghai Riots; Equipment Burned

SHANGHAI (AP)—Riots in Shanghai during the week-end were tragic for some shopkeepers.

A fruit stand celebrated its opening by setting off a long string of firecrackers—to scare off the evil spirits. The explosions were mistaken for gunfire and caused a near panic. Angry rioters tore down the stand.

In another part of town a mob threw the furnishings of a print shop into the street and set them afire despite the pleas of the proprietor, tears in his eyes, that the shop had been in his family for 95 years.

Mayor K. C. Wu summoned the printer to his office and gave him a cheque for 1,000,000 Chinese dollars ($175) as "an expression of my sympathy." The donation set off a public movement to raise funds for the printer.

At midmorning a city spokesman said "we think we have the situation under control." He reiterated nobody had been killed, by official count, although 12 were rumored dead and 100 injured. Many stores remained closed, however.

Rioting began Saturday after municipal authorities had sought to clear the streets of the thousands of unlicensed sidewalk peddlers. Mayor Wu later eased the order restricting the vendors to certain sections of the city, but the rioting continued.

The mayor told foreign correspondents he blamed the Communists for the outbreak.

Well-armed foot and motorized patrols—with shoot-to-kill orders—guarded against any resumption of rioting.

How to Help GET RID OF THAT COLD!

First day, drink a glass of lemon and soda every 2 to 3 hours. Take a hot lemonade when you go to bed to induce perspiration. Continue with lemon and soda 3 to 4 times a day while cold lasts.

AND AVOID ANOTHER COLD!

Lemons are rich in Vitamin C—help combat fatigue and infection. Take juice of 1 lemon, in a glass of water—first thing in morning.

TO MAKE LEMON AND SODA
Four parts of 1 lemon in a half glass of water. Add—sugar—half teaspoon of baking soda (bicarbonate). Drink at frequent intervals.

1/2 AWAKE Nights 1/2 ASLEEP Days..

When you are tormented by fretful nights, never comfortable, and you feel over-tired in the daytime—your kidneys may be to blame. For healthy kidneys should do 2/3 of their work in the daytime. If they get out of order and fail, extra strain is placed upon them and they must work overtime at night. That is the time to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's Kidney Pills help relieve this cause of night discomfort and disturbed rest. Help you enjoy restful sleep and awake refreshed. 143

When your little one catches cold—

Tonight... do what most mothers do to relieve miseries of children's colds: Simply rub warm Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime. Results are so good because VapoRub's special relief-bringing action starts right away and keeps on working for hours during the night while the child sleeps. Often by morning most misery of the cold is relieved. Remember, Mother... when your children catch cold... be sure you get time-tested Vicks VapoRub.

They'll Do It Every Time

The DOCTOR Says:

DRUGS MAY DESTROY
WHITE BLOOD CELLS
By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

In agranulocytosis cases the granulated white cells of the bone marrow and blood are destroyed by drugs and an infection of the body results. The white cells are the shock troops of the body which drive off invading germs, and in their absence the body is not protected against certain infections.

The agranulocytosis patient, usually tells of having taken some drug (often amiodopyrin). He was sensitive to this pain-relieving drug, and as a result he suffered destruction of his white cells.

Agranulocytosis may follow the taking of sulfa drugs, acetanilid, mydol, cinchophen, amylo, allanol, and many others. White cells can be destroyed by small amounts of any drug.

MORE COMMON IN WOMEN
Agranulocytosis is more common in women than in men, largely because of their greater tendency to take pain-relieving drugs. The majority of women with this disease are middle-aged and have domestic problems or are maladjusted in some way.

The disease is rare in children. The first stage of agranulocytosis is a lowering of the number of granulated white cells in the blood. There are no symptoms in the beginning, and patients do not consult a physician until they develop an infection.

The onset of infection usually is rapid with high fever, headaches, sore throat, and prostration all present.

Throat infection is the most serious, as swelling and ulceration block the throat and produce an enlargement of the nodes in the neck. Symptoms of infection may also develop in the stomach, intestines, and skin, about the face and elsewhere.

When white-blood-cell counts are made in agranulocytosis cases, the number may be found to have been reduced from 8,000 in every cubic centimeter of blood to less than 500. In uncomplicated cases, the other blood cells are normal.

Because of the small number of granulated white cells, bacteria can invade the body at any point.

As the patient recovers and the white cells return, abscesses form. These couldn't form previously, for an abscess consists of granulated white cells, bacteria can invade the body at any point.

OFFENDING DRUG DROPPED

In treating agranulocytosis, use of the drug causing the condition is stopped.

Penicillin can be employed to destroy the invading bacteria. This gives the bone marrow a chance to recover, in certain cases.

Bone marrow stimulants have been tried in cases of agranulocytosis, with varying degree of success.

The outcome in agranulocytosis cases depends upon the degree of bone-marrow and blood-cell destruction and the ability of the marrow to come back.

In the majority of instances, agranulocytosis is a serious condition which demands prompt and energetic treatment.

No patient should take drugs over a long period of time without having his blood checked periodically. And he should not hesitate to tell his physician what drug he had been taking prior to the onset of agranulocytosis.

CHILE'S NITRATE BEDS HELP SUPPORT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Chile is a country which has a very strange shape. It is extremely long and thin.

The average width of Chile is barely 100 miles. At some points it is less than 50 miles wide.

Now let us see how long the country is. We shall pretend that we can pick it up and carry it to North America. We lay the northern end so that it just touches the shore of Hudson Bay. Then the rest of Chile will run down past Ottawa and Hamilton into the United States. It will stretch from Buffalo to Florida, and there will still be plenty of land left.

The remainder of the land would be enough to be laid across Cuba, and the southern end would reach almost to the Panama Canal!

GREAT BEDS OF NITRATE

The people of Chile are fortunate because nature gave their land great beds of nitrate of soda. This nitrate is found on mountainsides.

Nitrate is stored in a kind of ore known as "caliche." The caliche is blasted out, and the broken pieces are hauled to a nitrate plant where they are crushed and then soaked in water. The water separates the nitrate from the rest of the caliche.

In that part of Chile (the northern part) it seldom rains. This is a good thing for those who own the mines, since a heavy rain on a nitrate bed would ruin it. The government taxes nitrate which is sent out of the country, and thus obtains much money for use in paying for schools and other public works.

SANTIAGO IS CAPITAL

Santiago is Chile's capital city, and it was founded by Spaniards in 1541. It is a good-sized city (containing about 850,000 persons) and has a fine climate. It is on flat ground except for a great hill in the centre which is used as a public park. That hill was formed thousands of years ago by lava and ashes cast up by a volcano. Now it is covered with grass, bushes and trees.

Santiago is located near the western base of the Andes mountains. It is at a height of only 1,700 feet above sea level, but it nestles in among the mountains which rise to the east and north. Snow-capped peaks can be seen from the city.

One of the monuments in Santiago carries the memory of a terrible fire. In 1863 a Jesuit church was crowded with people when it caught fire and burned to the ground with a loss of about 2,000 lives.

SIX BIG EARTHQUAKES

Other misfortunes in Santiago have been earthquakes. Since 1875 there have been six quakes of a very serious kind, an average of almost two in each century. To guard themselves as well as possible against earthquakes, many families have built one-story homes for themselves; such homes are less likely to be shaken down when the ground shakes.

Chile can be called a highly civilized country. Most of the boys and girls go to school, and there are colleges for advanced study. The leading cities have electric lights and many other things which go with modern progress.

'Make Mine Music' New Disney Feature

Walt Disney's "Make Mine Music," latest full-length comedy musical technicolor feature, currently at the Atlas Theatre, offers a series of phantasies, in sequences like "The Whale Who Wanted to Sing at the Met," "Johnny Fedora and Alice Blue Bonnet" and "After You've Said 'I Do' to 'I Do'." Off-stage by Nelson Eddy, the Andrews Sisters and Benny Goodman.

Story-telling with music, and song, include "All the Cats Join In," "The Martins and the Coys," "Casey at the Bat" and "Peter and the Wolf." Lyrical episodes include "Two Silhouettes" with Dinah Shore singing, and "Without You" with Andy Russell in the star vocal part.

'Darling Clementine' On Capitol Screen

"My Darling Clementine," now at the Capitol Theatre proves that John Ford is a master at combining art and action. There is enough art in this picture to rate a critical review in a pulp-paper monthly and enough action to please neighborhood kids at a Saturday afternoon matinee.

Here is a quiet, leisurely, almost plot-less story of four Earp brothers who stopped at Tombstone, Ariz., in 1882. Two are killed by cattle rustlers, old man Clanton and his four sons. They, in turn, are killed by the remaining two Earp brothers.

ROYAL THEATRE

Danny Kaye believes the secret of successful burlesque lies in a careful study of the object of the burlesque. In his current vehicle, "The Kid From Brooklyn," produced by Samuel Goldwyn in Technicolor for RKO Radio release, and now being shown at the Royal Theatre, Danny has to do a prize fight burlesque in addition to a burlesque on the ballet.

QUINTETTE OF LOVELIES appearing in Paramount's "Out of This World," coming to the York Theatre tomorrow.

Radio Personalities

Arthur Rodzinski, musical director of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, goes to Europe shortly for his initial post-war concert tour, and during his absence George Szell, Leopold Stokowski, Charles Munch and Bruno Walter will be guest conductors for the Philharmonic's Sunday afternoon concerts.

Rodzinski will conduct 11 concerts in France, Belgium, Denmark, Scotland and England, returning the latter part of February to resume his duties with the Philharmonic-Symphony.

The tour occurs 25 years after the conductor's debut with the Warsaw Philharmonic. His last European engagement was at the Salzburg Festival, when he led the Vienna Philharmonic in the first American score ever played at this illustrious affair—Samuel Barber's First Symphony. He will continue his practice of playing as many works of composers of the western world as possible on this tour, including the music from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Bob Hope's friendly spirit sometimes leads to embarrassment. The other day, when he was in New York City, he spied a man wrapped in a sheet standing in the lobby of his hotel. Figuring the fellow was one of the United Nations delegates, Hope walked over, extended his hand and inquired, "Arab?"

"No," the man answered, "room shortage."

The Smart Set, a good-looking aggregation of four girls and Leo Dukehorn, who lends the masculine note, are lively contenders for best-bet honors among Hollywood harmony makers.

Three of the four girls in the group, Pat and Mike Corrigan (sisters) and Gerry Stathiel, formed the nucleus of the Smart Set and made their radio debut known as "The Queens of Note." The fourth girl, Gloria Wood, began her career as member of a vocal trio at $12 a week.

The group has been heard with many top entertainers, including Rudy Vallee, Hoagy Carmichael and Ray Noble.

SOMETHING NEW IN PLOTS

There's a new movie plot coming up, in a flicker titled "Carnegie Hall." It goes like this: Girl meets building, girl almost loses building, girl gets building. The girl is Marsha Hunt, and the building is Carnegie Hall.

She starts working there as a scrub girl in 1910, advances to higher positions in the musical organization, winds up in 1946 in charge of the junior audition department. Meanwhile, scores of opera and concert stars parade through the story as she marries a pianist and has a son who almost breaks her heart by becoming a popular orchestra leader.

There will be no "dubbed-in" music for this one. Producers Boris Morroq and William Le-

Smith, Thomas Mitchell, Raymond Massey, John Carradine and Jerome Cowan.

In this dramatic saga of the South Seas, written by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, authors of "Mutiny on the Bounty," he was confident he had a story rich in every element of cinema entertainment.

Latest Ingrid Bergman thoughtfulness: A seven-page letter to Lewis Milestone, thanking him for his wonderful direction of "Arch of Triumph." Jackie Cooper's deal on "Kilroy Was Here" gives him 10 per cent of the profits as well as his weekly

Baron hired Jascha Heifetz, Bruno Walter, Artur Schnabel, Fritz Reiner, Harry James, Rose Stevens, the Vatican Choir, Walter Damrosch, Lily Pons and Ezio Pinza to play themselves.

And just to make everything authentic, all the action was filmed in the real Carnegie Hall in New York City. The entire film company moved there for almost two months.

It's the role of a lifetime for Marsha, who ages from a young girl to a woman of 65.

salary. But studios are claiming priority. . . . The title of Anna-bella's new Broadway play is "Closed Doors." Rather ironic, since her separation from Ty Power, with Ty giving her the family home.

Paper Issues Down Fractionally

MONTREAL (CP)—Losses were ahead of gains in trading at the final hour today.

Down in papers, fractions to 1%, were International, Price, St. Lawrence Common, MacLaren, Donnacona and Abitibi Common and Preferred.

Weaker in industrials were Cocksfoot, D. Bridge, Tar, Electrolyte, Gypsum, Dosco, Cement Preferred, C. Sugar, Ford and Asbestos.

In utilities Shawinigan and Montreal Power edged up.

Alcoa Preferred did better in metals. Hollinger worked higher in golds. Among junior mines on the upside were Elder, Lingman, Louvicourt, C. Cadillac and Pitt.
